EVIDENCE ENDED; ARGUMENT WILL OPEN TODAY

HUERTA INFORMS WILSON THAT HE LACKS SUPPORT OF THE AMERICAN PEOPLE

Some Tart Intimations by the Mexican General in His Reply to the Note Delivered by Lind.

HUERTA BLAMES WILSON FOR MEXICAN CIVIL WAR

He Says if Wilson Had Not Refused Recognition Peace Would Have Been Restored. He Warns Wilson His Power Is Only Temporary.

Washington, August 20.—Intimations are contained in provisional President Huerta's reply to the American note presented by John Lind that President Wilson is not backed up by congress or the American people in his stand against recognition of the Huerta government.

Referring to the attacks on the Washington administration by members of congress and pointing to the official recommendations of Ambassador Henry Lane Wilson advising recognition, Huerta declares he is entitled to be recognized. He holds that the democratic party's power is temporary, and argues that recognition of his government is a partisan question in the United States. He intimates that he reaches his conclusion on private advices from Washington.

This information was obtained tonight from those who know the contents of the Huerta note so far as it has been deciphered. The complete note is not yet at hand, but the principal argument has been placed before administration officials.

Neither Side Is Receding.

Though negotiations between John Lind, personal representative of President Wilson and Provisional President Huerta are continuing on a cordial personal basis, neither side is receding from its position, and alternative measures already are under consideration here. No definite course has been formulated, but the policy which at present is under consideration, and is most likely to be adopted is one of absolute non-interference.

The American government under such a policy would continue to deny arms to both sides, would withdraw Americans from trouble zones, insist on proper protection to property and lives, and, in effect, let the Mexicans continue their controversy on the battlefield.

The administration is determined against intervention or war, and the other alternative, friendly mediation, apparently has failed. Officials here believe, however, that the United States, through the mission of Mr. Lind, will have satisfied foreign governments generally of its desire to

CARDS ARE STACKED TO PUT HARRY THAW ON AMERICAN SOIL

Canadian Immigration Authorities Plan to Drop Stanford White's Slayer In Vermont Sometime Tonight.

IMMIGRATION BUREAU SUPERIOR TO COURTS

If Thaw Wins in Court Inspectors Propose to Seize Him and Rush Him Over Border—Thaw Worried.

"GIVE HIM A CHANCE!"
SHOUT THE CANADIANS

Sherbrooke, August 20.—Sentiment in Sherbrooke is distinctly in Harry Thaw's favor. A crowd which greeted him at the station when he arrived from Coaticook shouted:

"Let him go! Set him free! He hasn't done anything to us! Give him a chance!"

Sherbrooke, Quebec, August 20.—Harry K. Thaw will be across the American border in the state of Vermont by tomorrow night if tomorrow's events in the case of the fugitive from Mattawan shape themselves as Canadian officials in close touch with the proceedings anticipate.

This was the semi-official intimation here tonight as Thaw awaits a hearing on the habeas corpus writ his counsel secured today.

It is not denied that official opinion inclines to the belief that the habeas corpus proceedings will result in Thaw being declared a free man. What will follow, the plans of the immigration authorities indicate, lies in the hands of Inspectors D. H. Reynolds and F. E. Whillans, of Ottawa. These two officials, immediately Thaw is released by the court, it is understood, will take him into custody as an undesirable under the immigration act and rush the fugitive to Coticook.

At the immigration office the formal deportation proceedings will be conducted in the form of an official inquiry into the manner of Thaw's entrance into the country, and his past history, which it is held debars him from remaining in Canada.

To Drop Thaw in Vermont.

These formalities ended, he will be taken on board a Grand Trunk train and conveyed to the border, where Messrs. Reynolds and Whillans will hand him over to the American authorities.

The point of deportation indicated will be Island Pond, Vermont, the nearest border station on the Grand Trunk, about twenty miles south of Coaticook.

The "through ticket" to Detroit on which Thaw, it is understood, hopes to evade the immigration authorities and continue his journey through Quebec and Ontario to the state of Michigan, will not serve that purpose, if the information of the immigration officials is correct. Though they have not yet been shown the ticket by Thaw, they have learned that it was purchased in Coaticook and reads from that point to Detroit. It is not, therefore, a ticket from the American station, via Canada, to another foreign point, and does not qualify as "through" transportation.

The possible hitch in the deportation plan would be a further writ of habeas corpus calling upon the immigration authorities to show cause why Thaw is not eligible to enter Canada. This would further delay action.

Facing such a situation, Stanford White's erratic slayer, ordinarily loquacious, has shut his lips tight and

BLAMING THE GIRL DIDN'T SAVE DIGGS FROM FEDERAL PEN

He's Found Guilty on Four Counts Out of Six and May Be Sentenced for Twenty Years.

CAMINETTI TO BE TRIED ON A SIMILAR CHARGE

In Summing Up, Diggs' Attorney Didn't Palliate Offense But, Like His Client, Blamed the Girl.

San Francisco, Cal., August 20.—In eloping with Marsha Warrington from Sacramento, Cal., to Reno, Nev., Maury I. Diggs, former state architect of California, was guilty of violating the Mann act, which makes it a felony to transport women for immoral purposes from one state to another. This was the verdict tonight of the jury that tried him.

After being out three hours and five minutes, the jury returned to ask the court what form the verdict should take if they were agreed on some of the counts in the indictment and not on the others.

Judge Van Fleet instructed them to make their findings on these counts as to which they were agreed. A verdict of guilty on any one count, he said, would be a verdict of guilty of violating the statute, and would carry the penalty imposed by the statute.

Diggs May Get 20 Years.

There were six counts in the indictment, and the jury found a verdict of guilty on the first four. Each count carries a maximum penalty of five years and a minimum of one year in a federal penitentiary.

Diggs, his wife, father, mother and his three aunts, Mrs. Drew Caminetti and Mrs. Anthony Caminetti, were in court, waiting for the verdict. Diggs was pale, and his wife showed the tension she was under by the twitching of her lips, and the lessened bloom of her rich color.

The questions of the foreman clearly foreshadowed the coming verdict and gave them time to steel themselves for the final shock. There was no

NEGRESS GARBED AS MAN SHOOTS JOHN F. HALL

After Wounding the Turpentine Operator She Kills Herself.

Savannah, Ga., August 20.—John F. Hall, a prominent turpentine operator living near Hazlehurst, Ga., was shot in the leg last night by a negro woman dressed in men's clothing. After shooting Mr. Hall the woman took poison, ending her life. The coroner's verdict was suicide.

SON DISCOVERS FATHER TAKING LIFE WITH GAS

Quick Medical Attention Saves Lawrence Louis, of Hazlehurst, From Death.

Hazlehurst, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Seated in a chair with a rubber tube between his lips while gas from a stove poured into his lungs, Lawrence Louis, who conducts a restaurant on West Broad street, was found in an unconscious condition early this morning when his son, Robert Louis, broke into the store. The elder Louis was hurried to the Savannah hospital in the police ambulance, and, although physicians have been working on him almost constantly, his condition is yet uncertain.

Relatives of Louis agree that his act this morning was an effort to end his life. They attribute mental worry as the cause.

Louis has two sons who are in ill health. In addition he has been worried over the condition of his business. Despondency over the condition is believed to have made him determine to end his life.

SEVENTEENTH BABY CAUSED HER DEATH

Columbus, Ohio, August 20.—Following the birth of her seventeenth child, Mrs. John O'Donnell, aged 39, of this city, died at a local hospital. Shortly before her death Mrs. O'Donnell received word of the death of her sister, Mrs. Nora Fulton, at Washington Courthouse, Ohio.

Harry Murphy, of this city, a nephew of Mrs. O'Donnell, also died today. Mrs. O'Donnell is survived by her husband and eight of their children. O'Donnell is the father of twenty-eight children, eleven having been born during a former marriage.

HOTEL AT UNION CITY DESTROYED BY FLAMES

25 Guests of the Reid House Narrowly Escape Cremation.

Union City, Ga., August 21.—(Special.)—The twenty-five guests of the Reid hotel at this place narrowly escaped from death this morning when fire was discovered in the building. Within a few minutes after the fire call was sounded the hotel was a mass of flames, and nothing but a few personal effects were saved.

Valiant work on the part of the volunteer fire department saved the office building of the farmers' union, a two-story $10,000 brick structure, next to the hotel. The Reid hotel was a frame structure, valued at $4,500. Fire was caused by a defective flue, it is said.

U. S. JUDGE SPEER MAY LOSE POSITION BY IMPEACHMENT

Serious Charges, Presented by Department of Justice, Are Being Considered by House Judiciary Committee.

WASTING OF ESTATES CHARGED TO THE JUDGE

One Allegation Says Speer Named Son-in-Law Bankruptcy Referee and Awarded Exorbitant Fees.

Washington, August 20.—Charges, which, if sustained, may be the foundation of another impeachment case in the senate are made against Federal Judge Emory Speer, of the fifth Georgia circuit, in papers considered today in a carefully guarded session of the house judiciary committee.

The committee had before it the report of an investigation into Judge Speer's conduct by Special Examiner R. C. Lewis, submitted by the department of justice, along with numerous affidavits and other exhibits. No action was taken, the committee adjourning until Friday, and each member pledging himself not to discuss the charges in the meantime.

It is possible that at Friday's session of the house the matter may be formally brought up with a view of outlining a plan of action by the committee in the event it should determine to report the charges to the house, either favorably or unfavorably.

Most Serious Charges Against Speer.

The most serious charges dealt with in the examiner's report are:

That Judge Speer unlawfully permitted the wasting or dissipation of bankruptcy estates that came within his jurisdiction as a federal judge.

That he presided in cases in which his son-in-law was an attorney on a contingent fee, with full knowledge that his decision would affect the fee of his son-in-law.

That he was guilty of imposing unlawful punishments for contempt in cases coming before his court.

TRIAL NEARING END AND LEO M. FRANK SHOULD KNOW FATE BY NEXT SATURDAY

Shortly After 4 O'Clock Wednesday Afternoon the State Announced Closed—There Was a Short Discussion About Admission of Certain Documentary Evidence, and Prisoner Was Then Put Back on Stand to Give Him Opportunity to Deny Certain Statements Made by Witnesses After His Story Told to Jury on Tuesday Afternoon.

FRANK HOOPER OPENS FOR THE STATE TODAY; NO TIME LIMIT IS SET.

State Renewed Its Pitiless Attack on Frank's Character Early in Morning, and Some Ten or More Girls Who Once Worked at National Pencil Factory Swore That Character of Superintendent Was Bad—Two Testified They Had Seen Frank Go Into Dressing Room With Girl Who Had Testified for the Defense.

The Frank trial has entered on its last long leg.

Saturday should write finis to the most famous case in the annals of Georgia crime, and Leo M. Frank should know his fate.

Hundreds of witnesses have been on the stand to give testimony for and against Frank. They have withstood the fire of cross-examination or fallen beneath the barbed shafts of pointed questions. Experts have disagreed and wrangled on the fundamentals of the human system; character witnesses have painted Frank as a paragon of the virtues or pictured him as a man utterly devoid of the elements of common decency. A white man of college education and hitherto spotless reputation has been pitted against an ignorant negro who is no stranger to crime and the chaingang. A city of over 150,000 souls has been divided on the subject of the white man's or the negro's guilt or innocence.

END OF IT ALL NEAR AT HAND.

The end of it all is near. The city looks forward with relief to the verdict—whatever it may be—for the people of Atlanta have centered their attention on this trial as never before in history.

The verdict?

No man can answer the question. Time alone, which has been taking toll of the seconds and minutes and hours and days and weeks of the trial, can tell. The faces of the jurors, who sit through the interminable hours of question and cross-question, of quibble and of contention are as masques which completely hide their emotion. No human being can peer within and read the mind of these men. Mayhap they have made up their minds. Again, it may be they are waiting for the argument—the summing up of opposing counsel. No man knows. Guilty, innocent or fall tire to agree. One of these it will be —but which?

Thus far nothing has happened to stay the progress of the trial. For three weeks and a half lawyers have fought like soldiers charging or defending a fortress. For over three weeks twelve tried men and true have sat stolidly and viewed the fight. Not one has succumbed to sickness. For nearly a month Leo M. Frank has sat watching the battle for his life. His face has been as impenetrable as the Sphinx. Something of the stoicism of his people who for centuries have suffered is writ on his features. The trace of a smile has from time to time flickered momentarily and then vanished to give place to his attitude of impersonal interest.

STATE CONCLUDES CASE.

Shortly after 4 o'clock Wednesday the state announced closed. There was a discussion of some moments about the admission of certain documentary evidence, and then Leo M. Frank was again placed on the stand to rebut the testimony of Willie Turner, who stated Tuesday that he had seen Frank talking to Mary Phagan. He also denied statements about his having visited the girls' dressing room while they were in the act of disrobing.

A few moments after this the defense definitely closed, whereupon Judge Roan stated that argument would begin at 9 o'clock Thursday morning. Frank Hooper will make the first speech. Two days is the time generally spoken of for each speech, but Judge Roan has taken the bridle off and the speeches may be longer.

ATTACKS ON FRANK'S CHARACTER.

The state renewed its pitiless attack on Frank's character early Wednesday morning, and soon ten or more girls who had worked at the pencil factory swore that his character was bad. According to Judge Roan's ruling they were not allowed to go into specific acts. They were asked the stereotyped question and replied without qualifying their remarks.

These witnesses were in some instances young and pretty girls and their testimony made a strong impression.

Dewey Hewell, who was brought to Atlanta from the Home of the Good Shepherd in Cincinnati, testified that she had seen Frank talking to Mary Phagan, and that he had laid his hand on Mary's shoulder. Maggie Griffin and Myrtice Cato testified they had seen Frank go into the dressing room with Miss Rebecca Carson, who testified for Frank some days ago.

Three eminent physicians corroborated the findings and conclusions of Dr. Roy Harris that Mary Phagan must have been killed within three-quarters of an hour after calling, and that she in all probability had suffered some sort of criminal violence.

Street car men testified that the English avenue car frequently ran ahead of schedule.

MANY RECORDS BROKEN.

The Frank trial has broken nearly all records for the state. Conley was on the stand longer than any witness who ever testified in a murder case, the trial has lasted longer than any of which there is record, and the sum total of witnesses has excelled any of record.

Wednesday night all Atlanta was talking of the fight of the orators, which begins today.

W. C. DOBBS ATTACKS STORY TOLD ON STAND BY W. M. MATTHEWS

W. C. Dobbs, a fireman and son of Sergeant L. S. Dobbs, the policeman, was called to the stand to tell of the conversation with Matthis.

He was examined by the solicitor.

"Do you know this man Matthews?"

"Yes."

"Have you ever talked with him?"

"Yes. I got on his car about 10 o'clock one morning shortly after the murder. We were talking of the tragedy. He said Mary Phagan and a little boy came in on his car on the 26th. He said they got off at Marietta and Forsyth streets."

Rosser on cross-examination.

"You are a son of Sergeant Dobbs, the witness for the prosecution in this case?"

"Yes."

FACE DISFIGURED WITH PIMPLES

And Blackheads. Would Itch, Burn and Smart. Arms and Back Affected. Cuticura Soap and Ointment Cured in Four Weeks.

Ruffin, N. C.—"My face became full of pimples and blackheads, and would itch, burn and smart. The skin was rough and red. I was really ashamed of my face. My arms and back were affected almost as badly. The pimples would rise and form a head and a dry scab on top. The trouble caused my face to be disfigured badly and the itching would bother me so I could not sleep well nights, especially during warm weather.

"I used all kinds of ointments, cold creams, powders, soaps, medicine and all kinds of different remedies for my face and arms, but from none did I get any benefit. The trouble lasted me three long years without anything doing me any good until a friend told me about Cuticura Soap and Ointment and then I decided to try them. After the first application I could see some improvement. After using Cuticura Soap and Ointment two weeks I did not look like the same person; most of the pimples had disappeared. At the end of four weeks I was completely cured." (Signed) Miss Mamie Mitchell, Jan. 9, 1913.

It costs nothing to learn how pure, sweet, effective and satisfying Cuticura Soap and Ointment are in the treatment of poor complexions, red, rough hands, itching scalps, dandruff, dry, thin and failing hair, because you need not buy them until you try them. Cuticura Soap 25c, and Cuticura Ointment 50c, are sold everywhere. Liberal sample of each mailed free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T, Boston."

Sar-Kon when shave and shampoo with Cuticura Soap will find it best for skin and scalp.

Frank's Character Bad Declare Many Women and Girls on Stand

Solicitor Dorsey made a persistent effort Wednesday morning to show that the character of Leo Frank is anything but good. He laid particular stress upon his character as to his relations with women and girls, and introduced a large number of women who testified that in this respect his character was in their judgment bad.

Among those who testified merely that his character was bad without going into details were:

Mrs. Marion Dunnigan, who stated that she worked at the pencil factory two or three weeks about two years ago. She testified that Frank's character was bad, but she did not know about the lascivious part of it.

Mrs. H. R. Johnson, of Stonewall, Ga., stated that she worked at the pencil factory two months in 1910, and that in her estimation his character was bad.

Miss Marie Karls, who worked on the second floor of the pencil factory two years ago, stated that his general character was bad.

Miss Nellie Pettis stated that Frank's general character and character in respect to lasciviousness were both bad. In answer to questions she stated that she did not work at the pencil factory, but that her sister-in-law, Mrs. Lilly May Pettis, had worked there and that frequently she went to the factory on Saturday afternoon to draw the pay of her sister-in-law when the latter was sick, and that on one of these occasions she saw Frank.

Mrs. Mary Davis, of 3 Louise alley, who stated that she had once worked for the pencil factory three weeks, stated that both Frank's general character and his character for lasciviousness were bad.

Miss Ruby Wallace and Miss Estelle Winkle gave the same testimony.

Miss Carrie Smith, a former employee on the fourth floor of the pencil factory, stated that his general character was bad.

Leo Frank Takes Stand Again Despite Objection of Dorsey

In concluding the defense's case Attorney Arnold stated to the court that there were two or three matters which had developed to which he considered the defendant had a right to make a statement in rebuttal.

A protest was made by the solicitor, but was overruled.

Frank took the stand following the judge's decision. He was more vehement in tone than on the day of his statement, but was brief, concise and straight to the point. He occupied the chair only a few moments.

"The statement of the Turner boy," he said, looking at the jury, "is utterly false. The girls who say they saw me talking to Miss Phagan and that I called her 'Mary' are mistaken. It is completely false that I went into a dressing room with Miss Carson. She is a lady of unblemished character so far as I know."

With which he resumed his seat.

Says Girls Called Frank Down For Looking Into Dressing Room

Miss Irene Jackson's testimony relating to Frank's looking into the girls' dressing room while girls were in various stages of dishabille was corroborated by Miss Mamie Kitchens.

Miss Kitchens stated that she will have worked at the National Pencil factory two years in the coming October, and that she works on the fourth floor.

She stated in answer to questions from Dorsey that she had worked at the pencil factory yesterday and the day before and many days before that, but that she had not been put upon the stand by the defense and that she knew others who had not been placed on the stand by the defense, calling several names.

"Do you know Irene Jackson?" asked Dorsey.

"Yes," she replied.

"Did you know Miss Mayfield?"

"Yes."

"Were you in he dressing room when either of them was undressed and Frank looked in?"

"I was in the room when Irene Jackson was undressed and he looked in the door."

"What did Frank do?"

"He just looked in and grinned, or laughed."

"What did Miss Jackson do?"

"Well, he kept looking in, and she seemed to think he was looking longer than necessary, and said, 'We are dressing, blame it!'"

Rosser asked the witness

"Did Frank ask the girls in there whether they had work to do?"

"Yes," she replied, "but he did not ask it in the same tone you are asking it."

Rosser's tone had been rather gruff.

Witnesses Swear That Conductor Said He Wanted to Hang Frank

T. Y. Brent was the first witness called in rebuttal by the defense. He stated he had been employed by Frank's counsel to get witnesses, and related an incident in which he had heard the conductor, Kendley, denouncing Frank on a street car.

"Do you know this Kendley?"

"I have seen him."

"Did you hear him express his opinion of Frank?"

"Yes."

"What were his feelings?"

"Bitter. He said Frank wasn't anything but an old Jew and that they ought to take him off and hang him."

Cross-examination by Mr. Dorsey.

"Why did you leave the Stephens Lumber company, and what were the charges they preferred against you?"

Objection to the defense sustained.

Starr Also Testifies.

N. E. Starr was called by the defense to tell of Kendley's alleged attitude toward Frank.

He was examined by Mr. Arnold.

"Have you ever ridden on a car with Conductor 1416, a man named Kendley?"

"Yes."

"Ever hear him express his feelings?"

"Yes, he told a number of his friends that Frank was as guilty as a snake, and if he wasn't convicted, he'd be one of five or seven to hang him."

Expressed His Bitterness.

Mr. C. S. Haas, a passenger on a car during a run with Kendley is alleged to have expressed his bitterness toward the accused man, was one of the final witnesses introduced by the defense.

"Have you ever heard a man named Kendley talkeding on a street car?"

"Yes, he was talking on a Washington street car to a crowd big enough for the entire car to hear him. He said Frank was guilty and that ninety per cent of the respectable people believed that he should hang. A boy objected, and he turned on him, saying: 'Are you hired by a Jew?'"

Objection to this latter statement made by the prosecution overruled.

Asher Identifies Kendley.

J. Asher was the last witness put up by the defense. He told of Kendley expressing a caustic opinion of Frank on a Washington street car several days following Frank's arrest.

"About ten days ago," he said, "I was on the car and was talking to J. E. Moore, when a man who was talking loudly and obnoxiously said: 'Well, they ought to take the damned Jew out and hang him, anyway.' I took his number because he was so obnoxious."

Dorsey on cross-examination.

"You just went by his number?"

"Yes."

"Kendley was then called into the courtroom and identified by the witness.

"Three days after the murder of Mary Phagan, didn't you tell him you saw this girl and George Epps get off a trolley car at Broad and Marietta streets?"

"No."

"Didn't you tell Dobbs you owed a debt of gratitude to someone connected with the case?"

"No."

Mr. Rosser on cross-examination.

"How often have you ever spoken to Mr. Frank or me or Mr. Arnold about this case?"

"Never."

"You were tried for an altercation when a boy insulted you on a trolley car, weren't you?"

"Yes."

"Are acquitted?"

"Yes."

SWEARS THAT FRANK PREPARED SHEETS IN LESS THAN 2 HOURS

J. M. Gantt, who has been an important figure in the state's case, was called during the afternoon to testify to the length of time in which he has been Frank make out the financial sheet and to the inaccuracy of the punch-clock on the second floor.

"Did you ever see Frank make out the financial sheet?" Mr. Dorsey put.

"Yes."

"How long did it take him to make it?"

"With the data at hand, I have seen him make it out in an hour and a half."

"About this punch-clock—was it accurate?"

"No."

"How much would it vary within four or five hours?"

"Five or six minutes."

"How often was it regulated?"

"About three times a week."

An objection was made by Arnold, who moved to rule out Gantt's testimony regarding the clock on the ground that he was not employed at the pencil factory during the three weeks which preceded the date of the murder.

His motion was sustained.

W. M. MATTHEWS DENIES ALLEGED CONVERSATION

W. M. Matthews, a street car employee, was then called by the prosecution to tell of the alleged conversation which he had with W. C. Dobbs, a fireman. He denied the report.

"Did you ever see this man W. C. Dobbs?"

"Yes."

"Have you talked with him?"

"I think so."

SAYS WITNESS PAWNED WATCH SEVERAL TIMES

Nathan Sincavotich, a pawnbroker, was called by the defense to tell of a watch that had been pawner by C. E. McCoy, a witness for the prosecution.

"Do you know C. E. McCoy?" he was asked by Arnold.

"Yes."

"Has McCoy ever pawned you his watch?"

"Yes, last January."

"Where was it on April 26?"

"In my pawnshop."

"Did he make the loan on the watch during this trial?"

"Yes, last Saturday."

"How long has he been pawning this watch to you?"

"Off and on for two years."

"Ever know him to have any other watch?"

"No."

Dorsey on cross-examination.

"You didn't know that this was the only watch he had?"

"It is the only one he ever pawned to me?"

Girls Testify to Seeing Frank Enter Dressing Room With Woman

Following the introduction of the telegram Solicitor Hugh Dorsey began another attack on the character of Leo Frank and after a bitter wrangle secured the right to ask factory girls in regard to Frank's character in his relations to women.

This was argued with the jury excused from the room and was the subject of a bitter fight, the state saying that when Frank took the stand he claimed himself to be always lived a virtuous life, he had opened up the way for the state to prove he was not of a virtuous character.

Judge Roan had already ruled that the state could not introduce witnesses to testify to the solicitor to be prepared to swear that Frank had made improper proposals to them, and that this was about the same thing. Solicitor Dorsey argued that he was not and finally got the ruling in his favor. The defense entered a formal protest and had it go on record.

In the course of his argument Mr. Dorsey stated that Miss Rebecca Carson, a factory forewoman, had sworn on the stand that Frank had a good character and that she had never gone anywhere with him for immoral purposes.

"Now, I propose to show," said the solicitor, "that this woman brought here by the defense to swear to Frank's good character had been seen entering the women's dressing room with him when no one else but them were in the room, and that Frank had remained in there by themselves from fifteen to twenty minutes at a time.

"I am thus going to impeach this woman," continued the solicitor.

Judge Roan ordered that Miss Carson might be brought in and asked the specific question if she had ever gone into the dressing room with Frank.

Character Bad, Swear Girls.

In the meantime the solicitor put up Miss Myrtice Cato, of 59 Tumlin street, a former factory employee, and asked her in regard to Frank's character. She replied that it was bad. When asked, under the judge's ruling, about Frank's character as regards lasciviousness, she replied also that it was bad.

Miss Maggie Griffin, of 84 Evans drive, another former employee of the pencil factory, made the same statements exactly.

Neither one of the girls was asked how they knew this when the defense took them for cross-examination, about the only questions being asked them being about how long they had been at the factory and where they now lived and worked.

Dorsey then recalled Miss Rebecca Carson to the stand.

"Did you ever go in the dressing room with Leo Frank?" he asked her.

"Nor, sir," she replied emphatically. "I never did."

Miss Cato Recalled.

Miss Myrtis Cato was recalled to the stand following Miss Carson.

"Did you ever see Miss Rebecca Carson go into the dressing room with Frank?" questioned Dorsey.

"Yes," replied the witness.

"How often?

"Twice."

Rosser asked Miss Cato:

"When did you see Frank and Miss Carson go into the dressing room?"

"About 10 o'clock one morning and one afternoon."

"What was the date?"

"I don't remember exactly, but it was this year."

Miss Maggie Griffin was next called to the stand by Dorsey.

"Do you know Rebecca Carson?" asked Dorsey.

"Yes."

"Do you know Leo M. Frank?"

"Yes."

"Did you ever see them go into the dressing room on the fourth floor together?"

"Yes."

"How often?"

"Three or four times."

"What time of day was it?"

"In both the morning and afternoon."

"The was during work hours?"

"Yes."

"How long did they stay in the room?"

"Some times 15 minutes, and some times 20 minutes."

Rosser objected to this testimony relative to the time they were in the room being allowed to remain in. Dorsey argue didnat the length of time they stayed in the room would have a very strong bearing on the possible conduct of the pair while in the room and consequently upon Frank's character. Judge Roan ruled that in rebuttal to Miss Carson's testimony the time question would be irrelevant.

Testimony of Dr. Harris Upheld By Noted Stomach Specialists

Dr. Clarence Johnson, when called to the stand Wednesday morning as the first witness, designated the deductions of Dr. H. T. Harris in regard to the time of Mary Phagan's death after eating as scientific statements based on scientific facts.

When recalled to the stand Dr. Johnson, who is a noted stomach specialist, and who testified on Tuesday afternoon, was asked the direct question about what he would conclude from conditions such as Dr. Harris had reported finding in Mary Phagan's body. He said he would say the girl had died within an hour after eating.

It was not until Solicitor Hugh Dorsey had made a bitter fight that Judge L. S. Roan allowed him to ask Dr. Johnson the particular question which bolstered up Dr. Harris, and when the trial judge granted it he stated that it was not a right of the state's, but that the question was at his discretion, and that he was giving the solicitor the benefit of it.

The defense claimed that to allow Dr. Johnson to tell what he thought of the Harris deductions would be, in effect, settling the matter, and the solicitor declared that he had the right to reply to the attack the defense had made on Dr. Harris.

Mr. Dorsey's first question was an outline of what Dr. Harris had found in Mary Phagan's condition to be, and then asked him from that how long he would say it was from the time of eating the food to overlook the girl.

Dr. Johnson replied that he would first have to know that the pathologist had been thoroughly capable and employed the most scientific methods.

Digestion Stopped in An Hour.

Mr. Dorsey told him to assume that to be the case, and Dr. Johnson then declared that under the conditions, which he carefully repeated and had the court stenographer later read to him, that digestion of the food had been stopped in an hour after it was eaten.

"Would that be a wild guess?" asked Mr. Dorsey.

"It would not," replied the physician.

"Is every stomach a law unto itself, doctor?"

Dr. Johnson was then turned over to the defense for cross-examination.

"What are the other possible factors that would affect the digestive process" asked Attorney Reuben Arnold on cross-examination.

"The bruise on the head and the strangulation are two of them."

"How are they factors?"

"Well, anything that disturbs the circulation of the blood or hinders the action of the nerves toward the stomach, disturbs the action of the stomach, too."

"What are the mechanical factors?" asked Mr. Arnold.

"The size of the stomach and the thickness of its walls."

"Doctor, what is the best test for hydrochloric acid in the stomach?" asked Mr. Arnold.

"I consider the color test the best one," replied the expert.

"Is there any other test?"

"Yes, but I consider the color test best.

Calm Under Cross-Examination.

Dr. Johnson was then subjected to a thorough grilling, in which Mr. Arnold asked him technical questions to the amount of several hundred on the digestive processes in the stomach and intestines and on the effect of various things on the digestive processes.

It seemed as though the defense was trying to confuse the expert and thus discredit him before the jury, as the solicitor had succeeded in doing with one of the physicians introduced by the defense. Dr. Johnson, however, took his own time about every question, refusing to answer when the questions were hurried in lightning order at him, and gave a careful answer to each one of them, offering in every case to explain his reasons and show why he had answered that way.

Solicitor Dorsey and Attorney Frank Hooper were wreathed in smiles when Dr. Johnson left the stand, and Dr. Frank Eskridge and George Mizell, who have aided the solicitor, were also gratified at the impression the expert had made.

Niles Also Upholds Harris.

Dr. George M. Niles, a practicing physician and one who teaches the treatment of intestinal diseases at the Atlanta Medical college and who has also written a textbook on the subject, was the witness following Dr. Clarence Johnson, and practically corroborated what Dr. Johnson had said in regard to Dr. H. F. Harris.

"Is each stomach a law unto itself?" Solicitor Hugh Dorsey asked after he had established by questions who his witness was.

"Not exactly, every normal stomach follows certain general laws."

Mr. Dorsey then outlined to the witness the condition in which Dr. Harris had reported finding Mary Phagan's organs and asked him from that if he could give a scientific opinion or a wild guess.

Death Within an Hour.

"Assuming a healthy stomach and no excitement or extraordinary physical exertion to disturb it, I could give a scientific opinion that death had come in about an hour after the food was eaten," replied Dr. Niles.

Dr. Niles explained Attorney Reuben Arnold went into great detail about the digestive processes of the stomach and intestines and drew from the witness the statement that the longest period he ever heard of cabbage remaining in the human stomach was five hours after eating.

After a series of technical questions, which failed to confuse him, Dr. Niles was excused by the defense.

Solicitor Dorsey then asked him if there was any code of ethics among physicians which would prohibit a man from going on Dr. Harris' work in court. Dr. Niles said there was no such code, and also that Dr. Harris did not have to bring samples of the organs into court with him.

Dr. Funke Put on Stand.

Dr. John Funke, director of the Carnegie Pathological institute and a professor of pathology and bacteriology in the college of medicine of Willis Westmoreland, attacker of Dr. H. F. Harris, is president, went on the stand following Dr. George M. Niles and upheld Dr. Harris' deductions.

He also upheld Dr. Harris' statement that some sort of violence had been done to the girl before death. He was positive that the violence to her had been done before death and cited so many authorities on cross-examination that finally Attorney Arnold banged him to quit.

"Let the witness get through with his frog story and I'll go on," was Mr. Arnold's remark.

Dr. Funke went calmly on as though no fling had been taken at him and told of the changes that performed on the web of a frog's foot by which it had been discovered that the blood and certain particular ways before death when an injury is inflicted and then explained that the blood only flows from force of gravity after death.

Dr. Funke had been shown specimens of the organs taken from the dead girl's body on examination it was brought out that Dr. R. T. Dorsey, brother to the solicitor, had done this on last Saturday.

Attorney Arnold went into a number of detailed questions with the witness and then he was excused.

EFFORT TO INTRODUCE MORE WITNESSES FAILS

In an effort to get further testimony before the jury Attorney Arnold was defeated at the close of the session yesterday afternoon. Immediately following Leo Frank's statement Mr. Arnold asked the court:

"There are some girls on the fourth floor who have not yet been put up. We wish to put them on the stand in the morning."

In reply to which the solicitor said: "They opened up this matter and have had their inning. They have closed it and have no right whatever to reopen it."

Judge Roan sustained the solicitor.

Girls Testify to Seeing Frank Talking to Little Mary Phagan With His Hands on Her Person

The evidence brought out on Tuesday that Frank had frequently been seen talking to Mary Phagan and that while so doing had placed his hands upon her person, was corroborated by several witnesses on Wednesday.

The first of these corroborative statements came when Miss Ruth Robinson was called to the stand by Dorsey.

She testified that she had worked at the National Pencil factory and knew Leo Frank and Mary Phagan.

"Have you ever seen Frank talking to Mary Phagan?" asked Dorsey.

"Yes."

"What did he talk to her about?"

"About her work."

"When did he talk to her?"

"When she was at work."

"What did he do?"

"Well, he just talked to her."

"Where did he stand?"

"He stood close enough to talk to her."

"Where did Mary Phagan work?"

"On the fourth floor."

"What did she do?"

"She put rubbers in pencils."

"What did Frank do when he talked to her?"

"He showed her how to put the rubbers in the pencils."

"How did he show her?"

"He just picked up pencils and showed her how."

Shows How Rubbers Are Placed.

At this point Dorsey handed the witness a pencil and had her demonstrate to the jury how the rubbers were put in.

"Who had hold of the pencil while Frank was showing Mary Phagan how to do her work?" continued Dorsey.

"Mary Phagan."

"Where was Frank's hand?"

"I don't know."

"What did he call her?"

"Mary."

With a few questions from the defense the witness was dismissed.

Hewell Girl on Stand.

The prosecution next introduced Miss Dewey Hewell, who had been brought from the Home of the Good Shepherd, in Cincinnati.

"Where do your parents live?" asked Dorsey.

"They live at 8 Porter street."

"Where had you been before you came here?"

"In Cincinnati."

"When had you been in Cincinnati?"

"At the Home of the Good Shepherd."

"What sort of an institution is that?"

The girl hesitated and Dorsey excused her from answering the question.

"Have you ever worked at the National Pencil factory?"

"Yes."

"When?"

"I began work at the pencil factory in 1912 and stopped in March 1, 1913."

"Did you know Leo M. Frank?"

"Yes."

"Did you know Mary Phagan?"

"Yes."

Describes Frank's Actions.

"Did you ever see Frank talking to Mary Phagan?"

"Yes."

"How often."

"I have seen him talk to her three or four times in one day."

"What did you see him do when he talked to her?"

"I saw him put his hand on her shoulder."

"What did he call her?"

"Mary."

"How did Frank act when he talked to her."

"He leaned over in her face."

Railway Employee Swears Car Reached Center of City at 12:03

Several employees of the Georgia Railway and Power company were introduced by the prosecution Wednesday to testify as to the time of the arrival of the English avenue street car at Broad and Marietta streets on the day of the murder and to the fact that cars occasionally did arrive ahead of time.

A witness was also introduced to show that Mary Phagan was not on the English avenue car after it turned into Broad street from Marietta, although the men in charge of the car had testified that she got off the car at Broad and Hunter streets. He stated that the car arrived at Broad and Marietta streets at 12:03 o'clock.

Henry A. Hoffman, an inspector for the Georgia Railway and Power company, testified that while he did not know the time of the arrival of the car that Mary Phagan was on on the day of the murder, he did know that the same car on other occasions had come in ahead of scheduled time.

Motorman Mathews of the English avenue car, had testified that the car was due to arrive at Broad and Marietta streets at 12:07½. Inspector Hoffman testified that there was no such schedule and that the car was due to arrive at 12:07 sharp.

Inspector Hoffman, against the objection of Rosser, testified that he had seen the English avenue car arrive at Broad and Marietta streets ahead of time on occasions which was contrary to the schedule, the Fair street car being due at 12:05. This testimony was admitted.

The inspector also said that he had on occasions compared watches with Matthews and that the latter's to be as much as 40 seconds behind time.

He stated that he had seen Matthews come into Broad and Marietta streets as much as five minutes ahead of time and had on several occasions called his attention to this infraction of the rules of the company.

He said that he remembered two specific instances when Matthews was ahead of schedule.

Fever Missed Ahead of Time.

W. D. Owen, a motorman on the Fair street line, testified that he had known the English avenue car to arrive at Broad and Marietta streets as much as two minutes ahead of the Fair street car, which placed the English avenue car four minutes ahead of scheduled time.

L. F. Ingram, a conductor for the Georgia Railway and Power company, stated that he had come to town on the English avenue car on which Mary Phagan is supposed to have come on the day of the murder, and that he did not remember what time the car arrived. He stated, however, that he had known the English avenue car to be as much as four minutes ahead of time.

Probably the most important witness to testify on this point was M. Kelley, also an employee of the Georgia Railway and Electric company.

Says Car Arrived at 12:03.

Kelley stated that he was at the corner of Broad and Marietta streets on the day of the murder and that he looked at his watch and saw that the time of day was 12:03 o'clock. At this time, he said, the English avenue car arrived, and that he boarded it and rode to Forsyth and Alabama streets, from where he walked to Forsyth and Alabama streets to catch a car for College Park.

Kelley swore that he knew Mary Phagan by sight and that she was not on the car when it started from Broad and Marietta street. He stated that a number of passengers had alighted at Broad and Marietta streets, but could not say whether Mary Phagan was among the number.

Rosser made a determined effort to break down the witness' testimony, but failed to hurt it materially.

HERBERT SCHIFF TELLS ABOUT FRANK'S PAYROLL

Herbert G. Schiff, a chief witness for the defense, was put on the stand by the prosecution during the afternoon session to testify to the amount of money drawn by Frank Friday to be used in the payroll.

"What amount was paid Mary Phagan the week she was killed?" he was asked by Dorsey.

"One dollar and twenty cents."

"You were served with a duces tecum to bring the statement of Charley Lee regarding the injury to Duffy, weren't you?"

"Yes."

"And didn't bring it?"

"I turned it over to Herbert Haas."

"How much money did Frank draw on Friday preceding the tragedy to pay off the employees?"

"Approximately $1100."

"Have you any idea how much was left over for the next day?"

"I would approximate five or six envelopes, although I don't know exactly."

"From the time Gannt quit the factory until the time of the murder were any new clocks installed in the building?"

"No."

Cross-examination by Mr. Rosser.

"Would the payroll require all of the $1100?"

"Yes."

"Are the clocks keep good time?"

"Yes, always."

EPPS NOT IN ROOM AT TIME OF INTERVIEW

Vera Epps, a sister of George Epps, the young newsboy who will testify he had ridden to town with Mary Phagan on the day of her murder, took the stand in the afternoon, testifying that her brother was not in the room at the time John P. Miner, a reporter on The Georgian, talked to her.

Frank Hooper Opens Argument In Leo Frank Case This Morning

The opening argument in the Frank trial will be made at 9 o'clock this morning by Attorney Frank B. Hooper, associate counsel for the defense.

Two hours probably will be occupied by each man in the closing arguments. Judge Roan, in a short talk to the attorneys for each side, cautioned them against long argument, and insisted that each man dwell only on the facts of the case and the evidence.

No time limit was set, although the prediction is widespread that no more than two hours will be occupied by each man.

FRANK HOOPER.

TELEGRAPH OFFICIAL IDENTIFIES FRANK'S MESSAGE TO MONTAG

Following the departure of his three medical experts, Solicitor Hugh Dorsey introduced in evidence a telegram addressed to Adolph Montag, care the Imperial hotel, New York city, and dated April 28 and purported to be signed by Leo M. Frank.

The telegram which the defense allowed to go in without objections or denial of its authenticity, is as follows:

"Atlanta, Ga., April 28, 1913—Adolph Montag, Imperial hotel, New York city: You may have read in Atlanta papers of factory girl found dead Sunday morning in cellar of pencil factory. Police will eventually solve it. Assure my uncle I am all right, in case he asks. Our company has case well in hand. Leo M. Frank."

A. M. Beatle, local manager of the Postal Telegraph company, was then put on the stand.

"Did Frank send a telegram over your line on April 28?"

"Yes."

"What are its contents?"

"Your honor," said the witness, addressing Judge Roan, "my company forbids my disclosing the contents of a telegram unless so ordered by the court, do you order that?"

"You are so ordered when the question is asked you on the witness stand and is allowed as relevent," replied the judge.

Manager Beatle then stated that the telegram was the same one which the solicitor had just read.

W. G. Peebles, local manager of the Western Union Telegraph company, followed the local manager for the rival concern to the stand.

After he had put himself through the formalities of being ordered by the court to disclose the contents of telegrams sent through his office he placed in the hands of the solicitor two telegrams regarding the Frank case. When the solicitor found that neither had been signed by Frank himself he declared that he had no wish to put them in evidence and Mr. Peebles was excused.

DOOR TO CELLAR WAS NOT LOCKED, WITNESSES DECLARE

W. W. (Boots) Rogers was called by the prosecution Wednesday afternoon for the third time. He told of finding a mound of shavings at the opening of the shaft leading from the first floor of the basement.

"At any time on the Sunday of the discovery did you or Mr. Holloway go up stairs leading from the basement?"

"Yes."

"What was their condition?"

"They were dirty and dusty, and looked as if they hadn't been swept in considerable while.

"Do you know whether or not the door was locked?"

"No."

He was not subjected to cross-examination.

Sergeant W. S. Dobbs, who was with the party of policemen who answered Newt Lee's call on the morning of the 27th, was put on the stand following Rogers.

"Did you go up the stairway leading from the basement?" Solicitor Dorsey questioned.

"Yes."

"Was the door locked or unlocked?"

"It was locked."

"Did you see the shavings of the pencils? How were they situated with reference to the door?"

"I didn't notice."

At this juncture Rogers was recalled to the stand. He told of seeing these shavings, which he said were heaped in a small mound near the mouth of the chute.

HARRY SCOTT ASKED ABOUT BLOODY CLUB FOUND NEAR SHAFT

Harry Scott was put on the stand by the state in an effodt to prove the Pinkerton's part in the discovery and disposal of the bloody club and cord found near the elevator shaft.

"Did you see blood spots at the scuttle hole on the first floor?" was asked by Mr. Dorsey.

"I saw none."

"When did you first see the buggy whip and club?"

"I was out of town when they were found."

An objection was made by the defense, in reply to which Mr. Dorsey said:

"I want to show that the Pinkerton head, Mr. Pierce, showed me the buggy whip and never mentioned the club—that he was trying to withhold it for the defense."

"Did you pick up any cord in the basement?" Scott was asked as the examination resumed following Judge Roan's sustaining the defense.

"Yes."

"How did the Pinkertons learn of Conley's ability to write?"

"McWorth told me."

Protest by the defense sustained.

"What did you do when you heard he could write?"

"Went directly to police headquarters."

"Tell the jury about the talk you and Black had with Frank in reference to Darley?"

"Frank said that Darley was the soul of honor, and that we had come to the wrong man for information. We told him we had a pretty straight tip that Darley, who was a married man, was consorting with girls of the pencil factory."

"Did Black say, 'Come on, we can't get anything here?'"

"No."

No cross-examination.

DORSEY LOSES IN FIGHT MADE ON E. F. HOLLOWAY

Will Kendricks, the ex-night watchman at the pencil factory, came to the stand during the afternoon. A strong fight was made by the prosecution in effort to have him repeat on the stand an alleged talk with E. F. Holloway, in which Holloway is alleged to have asked him to state that Frank had called him up during the nights after the superintendent had gone to know if everything was all right at the factory.

Judge Roan sustained the defense, however, in its objection.

"Have you ever held a conversation with Holloway," asked Dorsey, "about Frank calling up the pencil factory at night?"

Here the objection was made. In reply the solicitor said:

"I want to show Holloway's attitude and interest in the case and to prove that he misled and entrapped me."

"How long were you at the pencil factory?" Dorsey asked after the judge's decision.

"Two years."

"After work hours on Saturday or any other afternoons were there any women in the factory?"

Objection by the defense sustained and the answer withheld.

"At the time you were working there how about the clock—was it accurate?"

It needed setting almost every 24 hours."

"How much variation within that time?"

"Sometimes three and five minutes."

"Ever see Jim Conley around the first floor entrance on Saturday afternoons?"

"Yes."

Mr. Rosser on cross-examination.

"You got some beer on the way?"

"Yes."

"Both of you?"

"Yes."

TWO MEN TESTIFY TO HAVING SEEN NEGRO AT FACTORY

Oxell Tillander, who went with G. K. Graham to the pencil factory on the morning of April 26, testified that he had seen a negro shortly before noon on the first floor of the plant, and that since he had identified Conley as the man he saw.

"Were you at the factory on the 26th?" was asked by Dorsey.

"Yes, I went to see Mr. Frank at 20 minutes to 12."

"Who did you see on the first floor?"

"I saw a negro whom I have since identified as Jim Conley. I asked him at the front door where I could find Mr. Frank and he directed me to Frank's office upstairs."

"What did you go to see Frank for?"

"To get my step-daughter's pay envelope."

He was subjected to no cross-examination Graham's testimony, which followed directly afterward, was in corroboration of his story.

CONLEY WAS NOT DRUNK, SAYS NEGRO WITNESS

Ivy Jones, a negro acquaintance of Jim Conley, who walked with Jim from the pencil factory corner to within four blocks of Conley's home after 1 o'clock on the day of the murder, was put on the stand by the prosecution.

"What is your occupation?" he was asked by Dorsey.

"I drive a dray for Walker Brothers."

"Did you see Jim Conley on Saturday, April 26?"

"Yes. I met him at Hunter and Forsyth streets. We walked up Forsyth to Mitchell and down Mitchell to Mangum street."

"What time was it?"

"Between 1 and 2 o'clock. It was shortly after I got off from work, and I got off at 1 o'clock."

"Was he drunk?"

"No."

"How far was it from Jim's home where you left him?"

"Three or four blocks."

"How far from the pencil plant was the place you met him?"

"Right at it almost."

"Was the route you went on his way home?"

"Yes."

Mr. Rosser on cross-examination.

"You got some beer on the way?"

"Yes."

"Both of you?"

"Yes."

"Come down."

FIGURES DID NOT CORRESPOND WITH AMOUNT DUE GIRL

J. W. Coleman, step-father of the murdered girl, was called by the prosecution to tell of the amount of pay drawn by Mary.

"Do you remember the conversation you had with Detective McWorth of the Pinkertons?" he was asked by Dorsey.

"Yes, he showed me a pay envelope and said he had found it in the pencil factory."

"What figures did it have on it as to money?"

"The figures one and five."

"What did you tell him?"

"I told him the numbers did not correspond to the amount drawn by Mary that day."

"What was she supposed to have drawn?"

"$1.20."

No cross-examination.

DOCUMENTARY EVIDENCE SUBMITTED BY STATE

Prior to the closing of the state's case, the solicitor tendered the following documentary evidence:

Part of the testimony at the inquest of Hattie Hall, Frank's stenographer. Affidavit of Wade Campbell, made May 1, pertaining to visit of Mr. Arthur White to the factory and to the negro whom she saw loitering on the first floor. Certain parts of Minola McKnight's testimony, to which strong objection was made by the defense. It was admitted, however.

The bloody shirt found at Newt Lee's home.

The written statement of Charles Lee relative to conversation in October, 1912, to Duffy, the watchman.

Evidence of Schiff before the coroner.

Certified copies of police records showing the number of arraignments of Jim Conley before the recorder.

Handwriting of the defendant identified by his mother.

Cabbage specimens submitted by Dr. Roy. Part of all of which had previously been admitted.

Pay envelope found on second floor by Barrett.

Affidavit of E. F. Holloway, in which Dorsey declares he was entrapped.

Parts of testimony at the inquest of Mrs. Angela Selig and Fred Selig.

Following which the state's case was closed at 4:50 o'clock.

TESTIMONY OF HOLLIS ASSAILED BY WITNESS

J. B. Reed, a tinlayer, told of a talk with W. T. Hollis, a conductor, who, he declared, showed great sorrow in having brought Mary Phagan into town on her last trip, the day she was slain. Hollis, he previously had denied making such a statement.

"Do you know W. T. Hollis," the solicitor asked the witness.

"Yes."

"Ever talk with him about Mary Phagan riding his car into town?"

"Yes, on Monday following the murder. I got on his car at Broad and Hunter streets, and he told me that it made him feel sad to think that he was the last man to see her into town on the day she was killed. He said a boy named Epps had got on the car and had ridden into town with her."

He was not put under cross-examination.

HE SAW DALTON ENTER FACTORY WITH WOMEN

A mild sensation was sprung in the courtroom when D. B. Maynard, a salesman for the Swift company, went to the stand, testifying that he had seen C. B. Dalton go into the pencil plant on Saturday afternoons with women.

When did you see Dalton go into the factory with a woman?" he was asked by Dorsey.

"In July, 1912, on Saturday afternoon," was his reply.

CARTERSVILLE'S WATER COMES FROM ETOWAH

Cartersville, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The new sterling plant at the Cartersville water works has been completed, and the people of this city are now drinking the water from the Etowah river. The new plant is said to be one of the finest and most modern system of filtration ever constructed in the south, and the water now being used by the people here is several times more pure and sterile than distilled water.

For many years the water used by the city of Cartersville has come from a spring near the banks of the river, but it was strong of lime. A two-million-gallon reservoir has been built upon a high promontory near the city which gives as large reserve supply as could be desired for a city of this size, and the pressure has been greatly enhanced, making the city more secure than before from fire.

The new reservoir and the increased pressure on the mains will necessitate a new system of pipes all over the city and a part of the $110,000 bond issue which was authorized by the people last Saturday will be used for the purpose of laying the new main pipes. A complete sewerage system will also be constructed costing about $75,000.

CONDUCTOR BEHEADED BY HIS OWN TRAIN

Dalton, Ga., August 20.—(Special.) Conductor Ed Salmon, of a northbound Southern local, was instantly killed when run down by his own train near the Waugh street crossing at 11:30 o'clock this morning. His head was completely severed from the body, being picked up along side the track. He was supervising placing some cars on a side track when killed. His home was in Rome.

Rome, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The mangled body of E. B. Salmon, one of the Southern railway's oldest and best known conductors, was brought here from Dalton this afternoon, where he met death by falling under a car that he was polling into a side track. His head was completely severed from the body and one foot was almost cut off. He leaves a wife and seven daughters. The funeral will take place Thursday afternoon.

BLACK MARIA CHASES FUGITIVE IN BUGGY

Rome, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—A midnight chase of a buggy containing a fugitive from justice, by officers in the automobile "Black Maria," enlivened the police department of Rome last night, when M. J. Elrod, wanted for keeping liquor on hand for the purpose of illegal sale, was captured by three policemen.

Starnes Tells How Affidavit From Negro Cook Was Secured

John Starnes, prosecutor of Leo Frank, was put up to tell about the Minola McKnight affidavit.

"Did you investigate the scuttle hole around the elevator?" was Dorsey's first question.

An objection by the defense was overruled.

"See any blood spots there?"

"No."

"Now, tell the jury about the Minola McKnight affadavit."

"Pat Campbell and I arrested her at the solicitor's office. We had gone to get a statement from her husband. We also had information from this husband that she had made the identical statement which she made in the affidavit. The next day, Mr. Craven and Mr. Pickett came to police headquarters. They were sent into the room with Minola. She said, upon request, that she preferred to talk to them. We left them alone with her. When she finished with her statement, I said, 'Minola, we only want the truth, and if this isn't the truth, we don't want it.' She said that it was the whole truth. Her attorney, Mr. Gordon was waiting on the outside. I conferred with him frequently. I don't recall any demand that he made except for admission. When he went into the room, the statement was half finished. It was read over to him, and he left shortly afterwards, presumably for the solicitor's office. The statement had been typewritten when he returned. It was read over to him, and he asked Minola a number of questions about it."

"Was she held upon my authority?" asked the solicitor.

"No."

"Did I direct you to free her?"

"No."

Cross-examination, by Rosser:

"What authority did you have to arrest her?"

"The feeling of an honest and conscientious officer who thought she ought to have been arrested."

"Did you have any warrant?"

"No."

"Did Dorsey know you were going to lock her up?"

"I suppose he did."

"He didn't protest against it because it was against the law?"

"No."

"She was carried from Dorsey's office screaming and hysterical, wasn't she?"

"Yes."

"And declaring that she had told all she knew?"

"I don't think she said that."

"Your purpose was to get her to make another statement beside the one she had already made—the one that didn't suit you, eh?"

"My purpose was to get the truth."

"Did you telephone Dorsey at any time?"

"My recollection is that I called him to tell that Minola had made the statement."

"Why did you call him?"

"He was representing the state in the state's case on which we were working."

NEGRO IS ARRESTED ON CHARGES MADE BY FRIGHTENED GIRL

Cartersville, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—A great deal of excitement was occasioned this morning in the upper part of Bartow county by an attempt said to have been made by Joe Hill, a negro, to stop a 13-year-old girl, who was walking along the right-of-way of the Louisville and Nashville railroad, near Fairmont. Hill was arrested by Sheriff Smith and an armed posse and brought to Cartersville, where he was placed in jail.

The young girl, Miss Alred, is said to have been walking along the railroad toward Fairmont when she noticed the negro sitting on the side of the road at the top of an embankment. When she saw him it is said that she attempted to avoid meeting the negro, but that the black made an effort to prevent her from passing him by walking to meet her, thereby cutting her off. At this, it is declared, the girl ran through a corn field to the farm house of a neighbor, where she told her story of the fright that had been given her by the negro.

FUNERAL OF MRS. FELKER IS HELD AT DALTON, GA.

Dalton, Ga., August 20.—(Special.) The funeral of Mrs. S. P. Felker, whose sudden death occurred Sunday morning while she was reading a newspaper on the veranda of her residence on Selvidge street, took place at the home yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock, Rev. W. R. Foote officiating.

Mrs. Felker was, prior to her marriage to Judge S. B. Felker, Miss Belle Nichols. She was one of this city's most universally beloved matrons, being prominent in church and club work up to her serious illness of a few years ago.

She is survived by her husband, Judge S. B. Felker; two children, Miss Aileen Felker and Raymond Felker; one sister, Mrs. W. C. Pilcher, and two brothers, Dr. John Nichols, of this city, and Arthur Nichols, of Lafayette.

FITZGERALD GOES "WET;" DREW W. PAULK ELECTED

Fitzgerald, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—After a hot fight at the polls today, Drew W. Paulk was elected mayor by a good majority over his two opponents. Present indications are that a "wet" council is elected.

Horticultural Society Adjourns Sessions After Very Interesting Meeting

Cornelia, Ga., August 20.—(Special.) The first semi-annual session of the Georgia State Horticultural society adjourned this afternoon. The morning was devoted to many interesting discussions on orchard heating, packing apples, orchard management and home ornamentation as well as vegetable gardening. The society appointed committees to investigate the subject of apple packages, apple freight rates, and appointed resolutions thanking the city of Clayton for its hospitality as well as thanking the out-of-the-state speakers.

Invitations were submitted to the society from several cities of the state, but this question was laid over for consideration at the winter meeting, which will be held during January. After the adjournment the members of the organization were tendered a barbecue by the city of Clayton. The secretary was instructed to convey the thanks of the society to the inviting cities and to the city of Clayton.

Most of the delegates left on the southbound train at 3:00. Many growers remained to enjoy the mountains for the remainder of the summer.

ROME DESIRES BRANCH OF NATIONAL HIGHWAY

Rome, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The county commissioners of Floyd county have instructed the county delegation in the Georgia legislature to request the state highway commission to establish a branch of the proposed Johnston-Sherman highway through this county. The present plan makes the nearest point to Rome, Kingston, in Bartow county, which is 17 miles away. The historic fact is, however, that while Sherman's army did not visit Rome, other troops were frequently in and about this section, and for several months a detachment of federal soldiers made this point their headquarters and directed military operations from here.

White Oak Camp Meeting.

Thomson, Ga., August 20.—(Special.) White Oak campmeeting will open on Friday, August 22. Rev. W. T. Hamby, presiding elder of the Augusta district, will have direction of the services. The local pastors, Rev. Wallace Rogers and Rev. J. M. Fowler, will be on hand. The visiting ministers will be Rev. C. A. Pattillo, D. D., and Rev. C. C. Jarrell.

FIRST DEPOSITS COME TO SOUTH

Federal Cash to Move Crops to Be Given Banks in August and September—Requirements for Security.

Washington, August 20.—First deposits of the government's $50,000,000 fund to aid crop movements will be made in the southern states in August and September. All deposits in all states will be made in two equal allotments. In a statement today Secretary McAdoo outlined the treasury department's requirements for security.

"Deposits will be made," says the statement, "only in national banks located in such of the principal cities of the several states as the secretary may designate. Such banks must have an outstanding circulation at the time of deposit equal to at least 40 per cent of the amount authorized by law. It is understood that such deposits are made to prevent or mitigate the financial tension incident to the movements of crops, and that the funds received by the banks will be used in good faith for this purpose. The banks receiving deposits will be expected to extend to the banks in smaller towns such accommodations as may be consistent with sound and conservative principles of banking, and that in all cases the rate of interest charged such banks will be moderate and reasonable.

Security for Deposits.

"As security for such deposits the banks must deposit with the treasury of the United States bonds of the United States government, or any issue, equal in amount to at least 10 per cent of the amount of the deposit. The remaining 90 per cent must be secured—first, by high-class state, municipal or other bonds which have been approved by the secretary, and which will be accepted as security at 76 per cent of their market value; second, by prime commercial or business paper approved by the secretary, which will be accepted at 65 per cent of its face value. All such paper must bear the indorsement of the bank offering it.

"Commercial paper is to consist of first-class business paper executed by individuals, firms or corporations of good standing. No commercial or business paper will be approved by the secretary until it has been unanimously approved and recommended by a committee appointed for that purpose, to consist of six members, five of whom shall be selected by and be members of the Clearing House association of the city in which the bank applying for the deposit is located. The sixth will be designated by the secretary. In cities where there is a subtreasury of the United States, the assistant treasurer shall be a member in addition to the other six members.

Payable on Demand.

"All deposits will be payable on demand and without previous notice, but in order that the deposits may be used and to facilitate the marketing of crops, it is expected that 25 per cent of the total deposits will be withdrawn by the government on December 15, 1913, 25 per cent on January 15, 1914, 25 per cent on February 15, 1914, and 25 per cent on March 1, 1914.

"The banks shall have the right to return the deposits at an earlier date if they desire. They will be required to pay for the deposits at the average dollar maintained during the period of the deposit, and also must pay such expenses as are incidental to the deposits.

Southern states were selected for the first deposits on account of the early movement of the cotton crop, which already has begun.

BIG WILDCAT KILLED NEAR THOMASVILLE

Thomasville, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Fred Kears, living about 5 miles from town, reports the killing yesterday of a very large wildcat that had been making nocturnal visits to his pig pen and those of various other farmers in this section of the county. The cat was trailed for several hours and finally run down by three dogs that had been hot after him. It measured 5 feet from head to the tip of its tail and was very fierce and savage.

Separate Trousers

There are times in the life of every man when he actually needs a pair of separate trousers—to complete the service of a faithful coat and vest or for outing wear during the hot days.

Today may be your day; certainly it is your opportunity, for quite a bit of the price has been chipped off here—

Formerly $4.00 to $10.00

Now $3.00 to $7.50

ATLANTA NEW YORK PARIS

A VISITOR

A representative of one of the large stores in another southern city visited us the other day; in fact his is the leading store of a very fine, hustling city.

As we were taking him around from one floor to another of the furniture store he took occasion to notice and remark about and the reductions from regular prices that they show.

His remark was that the reductions were greater than those of his store's August furniture sale and more general.

The fact is interesting and impressive in so far as it points out that the Chamberlin-Johnson-DuBose "Blue Tag" Furniture Sale is an opportunity that Atlantans might travel unavailing miles and miles to find the equal of and that out-of-towners may look upon with all confidence and so time their purchases.

REQUIRES IMMEDIATE ATTENTION.

It is to be hoped that formality and ceremony will not be permitted to obstruct the demand for the immediate cleaning out of Peachtree creek, declared by Chief of Construction Clayton and by members of the city bond commission to be an absolutely imperative requirement for the successful operation of the new sewage disposal plant through which is to pass the sewage of about one-half of the city of Atlanta.

The new plant will be ready for operation within about two weeks, and the experts in charge of it say that it cannot do its work if it outflows into a sluggish and obstructed stream. Every rise of water occasioned by heavy rains will have the effect of seriously interfering with the efficiency of the operation of the plant. The members of the county board recognize the importance of the work, and its members say that they will give immediate attention to it as soon as the matter is officially brought to their attention.

Chief of Construction Clayton and Chairman of the Bond Commission Quillian state that they will at once bring the matter to the official attention of the county board. The city bond commission is largely responsible for the successful operation of the plant, which is being constructed by a part of the last bond issue, voted for that purpose.

The public property committee of the county board meets Saturday morning, and as it has full authority to act it can safely be predicted that after conference with the chief of construction and Chairman Quillian, a plan of action will be agreed upon by which this work will be done without another week's delay.

It is inconceivable that a plant costing nearly a quarter of a million dollars should not be given a complete and a fair test for successful operation by the lack of attention to a comparatively trifling detail.

Of course the work will be done, and done at once.

THE STANDARD COTTON BALE.

The attention of the farmers and ginners is called to the letter on this page of Vice President C. V. Truitt, of the North Georgia Cotton Buyers and Manufacturers' association.

The steamship lines have adopted rules—to be absolutely and strictly enforced—to make exceptions on bills of lading for cotton received that is more or le.s wet, stained, or soiled. In self-protection the railroads are forced to adopt the same rules. In self-protection the farmers, ginners and buyers will be forced to abide by the same rules. These rules, however, will work to the advantage of all those who handle their cotton carefully.

This thing of prime importance, to which the attention of farmers and ginners should be called, at this time when gins are opening up fall rush, is the standard bale. For the sake of economy in space, in stowing cotton in ships, railroad cars and warehouses, it is necessary that all bales shall have the same dimensions. The standard bale agreed upon is 27x54. All gin boxes should be made to conform to this size before the season opens, because every bale that is above standard size will be penalized one dollar. It should also be remembered that although a bale may be of the standard size, if it weighs less than 400 pounds it cannot be compressed to the proper density and will on that account be penalized 50 cents.

If the farmer patronizes a ginner whose gin box is larger than 27x54 it means that he will get one dollar less for his bale than if it had been packed in a standard size gin box.

Texas now has a state law making 27x54 the standard size for her cotton bale. Other states will no doubt follow.

Conformity to simple and necessary rules means a higher price paid the farmer for his cotton, and this is the thing for which we are all working.

MINNESOTA'S MENACE.

At the national convention of real estate exchanges, just adjourned, at Winnipeg, Canada, excellent addresses were made by Charles Glover, of Atlanta; Bruce Ravenel, of Columbia, S. C.; Telfair Stockton, of Jacksonville, Fla., and other southern delegates.

The people of Canada, and of the northern and western states of our own country, were eager to hear of the resources and possibilities of the south. Likewise, the southern delegation heard many things of interest to themselves and their home people. For example, it has been ascertained by the State Bankers' Association of Minnesota that the yield of wheat in that state has fallen from thirty to fifteen bushels per acre. As a result of this many of the farmers are deserting their country homes for the cities. Only 50 per cent of the population of the state now lives in the country.

The bankers, after painstaking and thorough investigation, have decided that the present deplorable condition of affairs in Minnesota is due largely to lack of agricultural instruction in the public schools, where conservation of fertility, proper cultivation, etc., can be taught.

It was shown that France produces today thirty bushels of wheat to the acre. How and why? France teaches agriculture in 40,000 schools. Minnesota is now introducing such instruction into her schools in an effort to stem the tide of migration from her farms to her cities, and from her farms and cities into the Canadian country west of Winnipeg.

The condition of affairs in Minnesota, brought about by lack of intelligent methods in agriculture, and the heroic effort of the state to "come back," by teaching the subject in the schools, should wake up the state of Georgia. Our state agricultural college fights its way and struggles for existence; the district agricultural shcools, or colleges, for lack of proper support and encouragement, barely manage to keep going; in the rural public schools no more than a mere smattering of information on agriculture is attempted.

"The Red Old Hills of Georgia" is pretty in poetry. No doubt of that. But the memory of one red hill in Georgia is enough to furnish a theme for all the poets we can spare from the plow. If the hills of Georgia are allowed to become red and barren, or if those that are already red and barren are not reclaimed, how can we hope for prosperity and contentment? Our little children and young men and women are eager to learn agriculture and household economics. Let us profit by the menace of Minnesota and give them a chance of the right sort.

NOT A FINAL RULING.

Through the Boston Chamber of Commerce there has come to light the latest bright idea in regard to the use of the parcel post. It seems that a merchant in Kansas had been carrying some small accounts for years without being able to collect the amounts due him. When the C. O. D. department of the parcel post was established this merchant hit upon a scheme that brought the money quickly.

A box was filled with waste and on top of the waste was placed a receipt for the amount due the merchant. Then the box was carefully covered and wrapped and sent to the delinquent. The expense on each box was 15c—10c C. O. D. fee, and 5c postage. The merchant figured largely on curiosity as a helper. Generally the person addressed paid the amount for the privilege of seeing what was in the box.

It is said that a United States district attorney in Kansas, to whose attention the matter was brought, regards the trick as "clever," but probably not fraudulent, because the shipper of the box did not previously promise anything in return for the amount to be collected on delivery.

But that is not the final ruling by any means.

There's no big stick end to Bryan's olive branch; that's why they're not afraid of it.

The summer session deprives the public of the pleasure of hearing many eloquent chautauqua orators tell how they saved the country.

Rained Some, Anyway.

There was at least rain enough in dry Arcadia recently to make the editor of The Arcadia Sunlight write rapturously:

"A cloud appeared in the east that grew and spread like Elijah's cloud, from the size of the hand until the eastern horizon was banked full of clouds. The lightning flashed and the thunder roared and a beautiful rainbow appeared in its cosmetic curving tints in the region of the clouds. After the lightning had dazzled our eyes with its welcome glimmerings and the thunder had echoed from cloud to cloud and made music for our ears for a considerable length of time it began to rain and it never stopped until the rain had fallen to the amount of one tenthousandth of an inch."

STANDARD BALING OF COTTON CROP

Editor Constitution: The statement, generally circulated, that under the new cotton shipping regulations, second-hand bagging must not be used for covering is an error.

The North Georgia Cotton Buyers and Manufacturers' association, in session in Atlanta on July 15, passed the following resolution relative to bagging:

"That cotton be covered at the gin with good, strong bagging, free from sample holes, and that the ends be well sewed up. Use six yards two-pound bagging and six bands as heretofore."

The above resolution was unanimously passed at the said meeting.

When this resolution was under discussion it was suggested and agreed by several members of this association that some of the reworked bagging on the market is preferable to some grades of the newoven bagging, which is considered new bagging. Hence the passage of the above resolution.

I am writing this simply in the interest of all concerned and for the correct information of the public generally.

C. V. TRUITT,
Vice President North Georgia Cotton Buyers and Manufacturers' Association.

Sounding Sands.

Various acoustic wonders have been found all over the world. They range from the humble barnyard echo to the sounding sands of Arabia and Afghanistan. In "The Cruise of the Betsy," Hugh Miller, says The London Globe, speaks of the phenomenon of musical sand as having been characterized by one of the most distinguished living philosophers as "the most celebrated of all the acoustic wonders which the natural world presents to us." The musical sands of the orient, when set in motion, give rise to noises which are sometimes more than musical. They are described as of such loud and booming character as to cause the ground in the vicinity to tremble.

A famous geologist discovered musical sands in the Bay of Laig on the Island of Eigg, in Scotland. This scientist supposed these sands to be the only ones in Europe possessing acoustic phenomena. But later discoveries have established the existence of beaches on the Ayrshire coast, between West Kilbride and Portincross. In this neighborhood there is a stretch of sandy beach, and at certain parts of the expanse, where the sand is deep and loose, a peculiar creaking sound is apparent as one walks along. If a stick be drawn through it the effect is much more pronounced, the result being a musical sounding note. The success of the experiment varies, however, according to the weather. If the sand is the least damp no sound can be produced. The drier and warmer the weather, the louder and more musical is the note given out. There are also parts of the sands at Cruden bay where this musical quality is noticeable in a marked degree.

Without Food 28 Days.

(From The London Chronicle.)

A remarkable feat of involuntary fasting was performed twelve years ago by a corporal in a regiment of French colonial infantry. On his way to work one morning a man heard cries proceeding from a disused mine near Brest. At the bottom of an excavation nearly 100 feet deep Corporal Andre Desrats was found in so weak a condition that he could hardly articulate a word. When he recovered his rescuers learned that, after accidentally falling into the mine, he had been imprisoned for twenty-eight days without anything to eat or drink. But a pig can beat a man. Dr. W. B. Carpenter in his "Manual of Psychology" records that a pig weighing 160 pounds was entombed by the fall of a portion of the chalk cliffs at Dover. It was dug out 160 days later, and found to be still alive, but reduced in weight to 40 pounds.

Children and Parks.

(From The Indianapolis News.)

A few years ago a merchant of Great Tower street, London, while walking in Southwark park, got an idea. This park is neighbor to one of the poorest parts of London, where the streets are thronged with children. The park was no attraction to them. The ever vigilant police would not permit the boys to play ball or the girls to gather flowers. They had not even to take with them to the park and no amusements were provided for them there. They could not be expected to enjoy strolling along asphalt pavements doing nothing to give vent to the animal spirit that boys and girls should have. So they preferred to play in the gutters and alleys in their native streets. Mr. Finsler—such is the name of the merchant who got an idea—thought he could do something for these children of overcrowded London. So he put his hand in his pocket and today is paying out more than $2,500 a year to provide amusements and care for the children that come to Southwark park. The boys play at cricket and the girls may be seen crowding about one of Mr. Finsler's helpers to listen to a well-told fairy tale, or to help in the making of a doll's dress, while an outer ring of babies sleep on rugs spread on the grass or look in wonder from their milk bottles to the stir that is going on about them.

Carlyle and the G. C. B.

(From The London Chronicle.)

Although Carlyle saw absurdity in the idea of himself as G. C. B., he was sensible of the compliment, Froude tells us. "He had never spoken of Disraeli except with contempt, but Disraeli was not given to malice on such points." In the letter presenting the Grand Cross on Carlyle he implied that he did not offer him a peerage because hereditry honor would be a mockery to a childless old man, and offered a life income suitable to the rank of G. C. B. The Chelsea omnibus conductor's comment to Froude on Carlyle's refusal of the honor is complete: "Very proper of the queen to offer it, and more proper of he not to take it. That he would have nothing to do with it. There they who can do honor to the likes of he."

It Was the Printer.

(From The London Chronicle.)

A printer's error in perpetuity! How many of Sunday's congregations know that, when joining in the "Te Deum," they are carrying on, in one phrase of that song of praise, an ancient blunder? "Make them to be numbered with Thy saints," so it runs. And so, when manuscript copies gave place to printed books, was it rendered in the mediaeval Latin then in use, "numerari"—"to be numbered," as we say in English. Transpose the first and third letters and you get "munerari," "to be rewarded." Which is what all prayer books would be printing today, and congregations singing, were it not for that fifteenth century printer's error.

Constitution's Victory.

(From The Sandersville Georgian.)

The Atlanta Constitution should jubilate over the fact that tax equalization law was passed by the legislature. No other paper worked as persistently in favor of the passage of the bill by the legislature.

The World's Mysteries

WAS "DOCTOR BARRY," ARMY SURGEON, MALE OR FEMALE?

In spite of the common opinion that a man or a woman cannot pass for a long time as a member of the opposite sex without arousing suspicion, it has been discredited several times in history. A striking example was brought to light in England some years ago.

One of the most interesting of these impersonations of certain sources are to be credited—was that of Dr. James Barry, an inspector general of English hospitals, who was introduced not so long ago by Lieutenant Colonel E. Rogers in his book, "A Modern Sphinx."

For many years, Dr. James Barry was looked upon as one of the most efficient hospital inspectors in England. His features were not strikingly masculine, neither were they noticeably effeminate. He would pass generally for the average type.

July 16, 1865, Dr. Barry died in London at the ripe age of 72. He had been in the service of the government more than fifty years. His first position was as hospital assistant, which he obtained July 4, 1813, and he was promoted to be assistant surgeon December 7, 1815. As the sex of the army surgeon has never been clearly established, and as he always posed as a man, the male pronoun will be used generally in any reference to Dr. Barry. He is supposed to have served in the medical department of the English army at the battle of Waterloo. He was assuredly with the army in the Crimea, for there are several references to him in the history of the hospital service during that campaign.

For some reason or other he seemed always to be able to "more or less choose his own foreign stations. He was, or at least was allowed to be, as insubordinate as he liked without remonstrance. In a word, he was treated by the authorities as if he was what he may have been—a female.

Dr. Barry made rapid strides in his appointments, sometimes jumping two steps at a time. For instance, he never was a surgeon, but he became a surgeon major November 22, 1827. He never was assistant inspector, nor brevet deputy inspector general, which were grades in the medical officer's promotion in those days; but he became deputy inspector general May 16, 1851, and inspector general seven years later.

When Dr. Barry died in 1865 his grave in Kensal Green bore the very simple inscription "Dr. James Barry, Inspector General of Army Hospitals; died July 15, 1865, aged 71." It may still be found in the Kensal Green cemetery. No one ever suspected the doctor of being of a sex opposite to the one in which he posed until the year following his death, when a long article appeared in "All the Year Around," which brought out statements which became the temporary talk of London.

In this article was disclosed the strange eventful history of the Sphinx-like individual. "Not only was Dr. Barry discovered to be a woman," remarks the writer, "but it was made evident that in early life 'she' had been a mother." An inquest was held, in consequence of her refusal to be medically attended in her last illness, and the following day it was officially reported to the war office that the deceased inspector general of hospitals was in truth a woman.

When this magazine article appeared a captain of the Third West India regiment recalled an incident of his experience with Dr. Barry. "In 1857 I traveled with this remarkable character on board the intercolonial steamer plying between St. Thomas and Barbados, when I occupied the same cabin. I on the top and the doctor on the lower berth. I well remember how, in harsh words, I was ordered out of the cabin in the morning when he was ready to get dressed. He would say, 'Now then, youngster, clear out of my cabin while I dress.' In this manner and trouble he must have experienced to keep up the assumed character, it seems surprising how he could have possessed so many good points for I saw a great deal of him [illegible]

"I believe 'his' manner and speech were assumed to repel inquisitive associates." After the disclosure in "All the Year Around," many persons who knew Dr. Barry came out with statements which they felt might help to solve the mystery, one of them stating, "But what struck most people who knew her was the manner in which she barred her arms—with elbows in instead of outward." But that even the writer of the article in "All the Year Around" was not absolutely satisfied as to the sex is apparent, as he heads his story with the caption "A Mystery Still."

Modern Inventions
THE SPEED LIMIT.

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash"

(Copyright, 1913, for The Constitution.)

The speed limit wasn't invented until recently because there wasn't any need of it. What the world was most anxious to obtain was something which could go by an ice house without racing with it for half a day.

When this country was young, bridal couples used to start out from Connecticut for the far west and stop in Ohio to put their children in school.

Scientists put now catchers on the early trains, but even this didn't help. The cows kept ahead of the trains with ridiculous ease.

When Fulton ran the first steamboat up the Hudson and speeded it up to seven miles an hour, people grew pale and whispered "What if the friction should ignite the hull?"

In those happy days people did not worry about velocity. But later on when man began to burn incandescent holes through the atmosphere and to criticise the earth because its running schedule around the sun hasn't been shortened in ten billion years, the speed limit was hailed as a great boon.

Man is still allowed to travel sixty miles and half way up the golden stair in an hour by railroad train if he wishes and to do a mile a minute in, or partially in, a motor boat. But when he drives a two-ton automobile through a business street and does what happens to be on it, at the rate of 70 miles and 6,000 snorts per hour, he is jerked up and fined $8.50. That is, if he is foolish enough to come back after he is out on bail.

The speed limit is the speed at which an automobile driver can be caught. As long as he exceeds this speed he is perfectly safe. But only a foolish man will race for forty miles an hour through a crowded street when any motorcycle cop can do sixty.

When the police were armed with bicycles twenty-five miles an hour was fast enough to race and get away with it. But lately the police have gotten so agile that no one can drive below seventy-five miles an hour without getting ignominiously jerked to jail. This is the interests of humanity the speed limit ought to be reduced by mounting the police on velocipedes. Then the auto owners could defy the law at ten miles an hour and life would become much sweeter for the worried pedestrian.

Jokes of the Court of Louis XIV

(From H. Noel Williams' "A Rose of Savoy.")

The three princesses delighted in practical jokes and were for ever in some scrape or other. One night, at Trianon, they procured a petard and exploded it beneath the window of monsieur's bedchamber. Once, when the court was at Marly, the odor of an exceedingly pungent tobacco was wafted to the king's nostrils as he was on the point of retiring to rest, which, upon inquiry being made, was found to proceed from the apartments of Mme. de Chartres, where she and her sister were smoking pipes borrowed from the Swiss guard.

Chinese Educated Here.

The new ministry of agriculture and forestry under the Chinese republic will be extensively officered by young Chinese who received their technical education in the United States. Lai Kuei Liang, a 1908 graduate of the Massachusetts Agricultural college, has been appointed vice minister of agriculture and has begun the issue of The Chinese Agricultural Journal. E. L. Hsieh, a 1909 graduate of the same institution, has charge of the translation of foreign agricultural literature into Chinese for the ministry, while H. Jen, a classmate of Mr. Hsieh, is director of the agricultural experiment station at Mukden, Manchuria.

A Story of the Moment

By WALT MASON,
The Famous Prose Poet

HELPFUL WORDS

"My new neighbor, Higginbottom, is a savage," remarked the retired merchant. "I was sitting on my back porch this morning, and saw him splitting kindling over in his yard. He gave his ax a swing and it caught on a clothesline overhead and nearly jerked his arms out of their sockets. His observations raised the temperature of the whole neighborhood about fourteen degrees. I have had similar accidents myself, so I walked over to express my sympathy, but as soon as I opened my mouth he said if I didn't push myself back home again he'd tie my legs in a bowknot behind my neck. I doubt whether such a thing could be done, but I didn't stay to have him try it. If that man could break his back in three places I wouldn't tell him I was sorry for him."

"I don't suppose he'd want you to," said the hotelkeeper. "He appears to be a man of excellent taste and judgment, and I'd like to have him for a neighbor. Sympathy is a fine thing if you know just when and how to hand it out, but there are moments when it is a mockery.

"All my life I have been bored by chumps who handed me sympathy and offered me help at the wrong time. I used to live next door to a man named Spoondrift who shoveled out sympathy just when I didn't need it or want it, and I finally had to quit associating with him with a fence board, which cost me $16 in the police court.

"One night I had a sick horse and sat up all night with the afflicted animal administering yarb tea and other medicaments. A horse is the worst patient on earth, and I always hate to act as trained nurse to such a critter. When a horse is well it has only four legs, and keeps them where they belong, as a rule, but when he falls sick he has about forty legs and they all get in them around with a reckless abandon that is discouraging to physicians and nurses. While I'd be pouring four fingers of juice down old Dobbin's throat he'd reach around and slug me in the small of the back with two or three bushels of feet, and I had the dogondest time you ever saw.

"I went around at last and asked one neighbor after another to come over and give me a hand with my patient, but they all had some excuse. I called on Spoondrift and explained the circumstances, and told him that if he'd come over and help me rescue my horse I'd be his friend for life. He said that nothing would please him more than to offer a helping hand in the hour of need, for he'd always contended that man's mission in this world is service, but his wife was very ill indeed, and as between my horse and his own wife he had to choose the lesser of two evils, and remain at his wife's bedside.

"So, I went back to old Dobbin and he let loose an uppercut with one of his legs, that nearly put me to sleep. I sat up with him all night, and just as morning dawned he gave a despairing yell and died. I went into the house with tears streaming down by haggard cheeks, and my wife began telling me of a party she had attended the night before. After a long yarn about the dresses the women wore, and the refreshments that were served she said she had come home at o'clock in the morning with Mrs. Spoondrift.

"Never until that moment did I realize how doggone perfidious a man can be when he really tries. That woman's husband had the nerve to tell me she was sick, and he couldn't leave her bedside. Then I was on my knees begging him to come over and help put a cold compress on my suffering horse's bosom. My faith in the human race was shattered right there, and I choked on a buckwheat cake, and my wife had to hammer me on the back with the fire shovel so I could get my breath.

"After breakfast I went out to attend to the last sad rites and old Spoondrift came over and began telling me how sorry he was that my beloved horse was dead, and how bitterly he regretted his inability to help me in the crucial hour. My blood boiled in my veins until the steam came out of my ears and I picked up a fence board and broke it over his head, and it made me feel so much better that I didn't mind the fine at all."

Georgia Should Be Independent.

(From The Hawkinsville News.)

The price of fresh beef is already too high to suit the purse of any but the rich, and now the distressing news comes that it is to go still higher as a result of the drouth in the cattle-growing states of Kansas, Iowa, Nebraska and Oklahoma.

"I Want Justice. Let the Law Taks Its Course," Cries Stricken Mother of Slain Mrs. Godbee

Judge and Mrs. Walter S. Godbee, slain by Judge's divorced wife.

SCENES OF MILLEN SHOOTING AND TWO VICTIMS.

The upper left-hand picture of the top group shows the Millen postoffice, where the tragedy occurred. Below it is the home of Mrs. Edna Godbee. The center picture shows Sheriff Johnson on the spot where he arrested Mrs. Edna Godbee. The upper right-hand picture shows the Jenkins county jail, in which Mrs. Godbee is confined, and the lower right-hand picture shows Chief of Police Palmer, of Millen, and Sheriff Johnson, seated in front of the cell occupied by Mrs. Godbee.

Hearing of Her Daughter's Death, Mrs. G. W. Boyer Collapses Upon Reaching Hotel in Millen.

Savannah, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Prostrate with grief because she was too late to reach her daughter's bedside before the end came, Mrs. G. W. Boyer, of Williamsport, Pa., mother of Mrs. Florence Boyer Godbee, who died last night at Millen from bullets fired by the divorced Mrs. Godbee, passed through Savannah today on her way to Millen.

"I want to see justice done," said Mrs. Boyer. "I have no vindictive feelings toward the first Mrs. Godbee, but I want the law to take its course."

When asked whether or not she thought the first Mrs. Godbee insane, Mrs. Boyer appeared to resent the question, and replied sharply, "No!"

Mrs. Boyer's son, the brother of the slain woman, is expected to reach Millen tomorrow morning.

Mrs. Godbee, the slayer, still maintains her attitude of reticence, she still declines to make even the briefest statement about the case.

Her attorneys have advised to this effect, it is understood.

Laughs Over Tragedy.

Mrs. Godbee was arrested and jailed within thirty minutes after the tragedy. After the shooting she calmly walked by Judge Godbee's dead body and started toward home. After she had walked a short distance she was overtaken by Sheriff M. G. Johnson, who took her to jail. On the way to the jail she laughed about the shooting. She said she had to kill both, but wanted to kill Mrs. Florence Godbee first. She was shot three times in the back, one ball going through the right lung, one lodging in the left lung and the third piercing the lower stomach through a hip.

Back of this tragedy is a long list of marital troubles, ending in Mrs. Edna Godbee suing Judge Godbee for divorce. He was wealthy, and in her suit she asked for a large sum as alimony. She gained her divorce, but lost the alimony, and was bitterly disappointed. This was about five years ago.

Married Third Time.

Early this year Judge Godbee married Miss Florence Boyer, of Williamsport, Pa. This was his third marriage. His first wife died years ago.

The last marriage was another bitter disappointment to Mrs. Edna Godbee. She lived at her home here with her daughter, Miss Sarah Godbee, 18 years old. There are two other children—Frank Godbee, of Swainsboro, and King Godbee, of Augusta.

Funeral at Waynesboro.

Millen, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Mrs. G. W. Boyer, mother of Mrs. W. S. Godbee, arrived in Millen this morning. She received information en route of the death of her daughter, suffered a complete collapse, and is now quite ill at a local hotel, requiring the services of a trained nurse. The brother of Mrs. Godbee is expected tomorrow.

Funeral services will take place at Waynesboro Friday morning and the remains will be interred there by the side of Mr. Godbee.

Mrs. Edna Godbee is holding up remarkably well in the Jenkins county jail. She has made no statement yet.

GEORGE M'TEER FOUND DEAD IN HIS ROOM

Shortly after having ordered a soft drink yesterday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock, George E. McTeer, a popular salesman connected with the Keely Company, was found dead in his room in the Hight apartments at 147 Whitehall.

Mr. McTeer had complained of feeling ill while at the store Wednesday, and went home rather early, it is said. At 5:30 o'clock in the afternoon he asked a little negro girl to go get him a milk shake. When the girl returned she was apparently sleeping, and when Frank Crabb, in whose apartment Mr. McTeer was staying, entered the room he was found dead.

The body was taken to Bloomfield's parlors, where the inquest will be held this morning at 9:30 o'clock.

Mr. McTeer is survived by his mother and two sisters in Greenville, S. C.

ANNUAL RALLY FRIDAY AT CITY PLAYGROUND

With folk dances, games and competitive drills, the annual rally day of the Atlanta playground children, marking the close of the season, will be held Friday afternoon at Grant park at 3:30 o'clock. Several hundred children, gathered from six playgrounds, will participate in what will mark the closing of the most successful year since the playgrounds were established.

During the past ten weeks it is estimated that fully 30,000 children have taken advantage of the opportunity offered to play on the city's grounds under the direction of experienced instructors.

The closing of the colored playgrounds will be held this afternoon and Friday morning.

NEGRO SHOOTS DOWN HIS WHITE CAPTOR AND MAKES ESCAPE

Greenville, Ga., August 20.—J. T. Marchman, a farmer, was shot and instantly killed near here late today by Walter Brewster, a negro, whom Marchman was bringing to Greenville for trial on a trivial charge. Brewster jumped from Marchman's buggy, rushed into a negro's home by the roadside and secured a shotgun. He chased Marchman around the house for several minutes, finally killing him.

Sheriff Darnell and a posse with bloodhounds are searching for Brewster tonight.

DELAY IN SIGNING BILL DISQUALIFIES VOTERS

Macon, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The inability of Governor Slaton to sign the bill annexing Cherokee Heights to the city of Macon before today makes it impossible for the residents of that section of the city to vote in the coming municipal primary. The signing of the bill three days earlier would have made this possible. The law is that people must reside in the city three months before being qualified to vote. The election will be held on November 13, just 87 days from today.

In Favor of McDonald.

Washington, August 20.—The house elections committee today agreed unanimously to report in favor of seating William J. McDonald, progressive, for the twelfth Michigan district. H. Olin Young, republican, resigned the seat because he believed McDonald had been beaten on a technicality.

Institutes Discontinued Through Lack of Funds

Athens, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—There will be no farmers' institutes conducted from the state college of agriculture next year. This year's institutes, going out on three routes almultaneously, have reached to date more than forty thousand adult farmers who attended the sessions and took part in the work. In only one county was there a failure of the institute for lack of a crowd—and there the meeting was not advertised locally through an oversight in some way.

No appropriation was made for the institute by the legislature, though at the last every other item originally provided in the appropriations bill was passed. Just $2,000 was appropriated last year. Not a penny this year was set aside for this purpose, and the institutes, according to the statement from the college, will be discontinued next summer.

New High School for Royston.

Royston, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Plans are being drawn for Royston's new high school building, and the contract is to be let at once for the erection at a cost of about ...0,000, with all modern conveniences. The school, as usual, will open on September 1st in temporary quarters until the new building is completed.

At Highland Lake Club.

The second annual tennis tournament, beginning August 11 and ending August 16, created keen interest among the tennis champions visiting western North Carolina from various cities in the south. Expert players at the club and from other clubs made the Highland Lake courts a scene of lively interest to the throng of spectators.

Mr. Harry Hollman, of Atlanta, won the Highland Lake trophy for men, a beautiful sterling silver cup.

Mr. Harry Holliman, of Atlanta, and Mr. J. Monroe, of New Orleans, won the nemlock trophy for men's doubles—two small sterling silver cups of most attractive design.

Mr. Charley Cheves, of Charleston, and Miss Harriet Williams, of Charleston, won the Mountain Laurel trophy, for mixed doubles. This trophy was two sterling silver picture frames for the lady and a sty ish leather belt with sterling silver buckle for the lucky man.

Miss Harriet Williams, of Charleston, also won the Highland Lake trophy, for ladies' singles, a handsome filigree silver combination sewel case and pin cushion.

Miss Williams is indeed an expert at the game and has for two years held the championship at Hikhland Lake to the intense gratification of her many friends and admirers.

Among other splendid players in the tournament were Mr. F. J. Howden, Jr., Mr. Frank Howden, Mr. Harry Howden, and Miss Dorothy Baldwin, of Savannah; Mr. Charley Cheves, Mr. Robertson Epnes, Mr. S. Laphan, Mr. L. M. Gumbali, Mr. A. J. Hevard, Miss Isabella Cheves and Miss Alice Williams, of Charleston; Mr. Lloyd Parks, of Atlanta; Mr. W. A. Don't Rely on Your Friend In the Swimming Pool

By Isma Dooly

Once I heard a man apologizing to another man because he had not been at the lodge the night he was initiated.

"You need not apologize," said the new Mason. "I had more friends there that night than I wanted."

I think all people who are learning to swim feel the same way about their friends. The friends are the last ones to try to teach you or to be trusted. They will let you go down every time and then laugh themselves sick over it and tell it until they see some other friend making the same frantic effort, and they begin on that one.

OH, YES, IT'S VERY EASY TO LEARN TO SWIM.

"It is the easiest thing in the world," says one of your friends—"just throw yourself out from the side of the pool and move your arms like this; and your legs like that—" (they illustrate.)

"There is no danger in the world—now that is it—just throw yourself out. You do it, trusting them, and you go straight to the bottom without losing a moment's time. Then, shrieking with laughter, they will explain, "Why, you were frightened; what made you go to the bottom?"

Of course, the novice knows why she went to the bottom—simply because she could not swim.

Then the friends begin to urge again—"just try it dog-fashion," and you do—working like a motorcycle about to explode, and exhausting your strength and energy, only to go to the bottom the moment your friend deliberately lets go the back of your bathing suit.

The First Real Lesson.

Then there comes forward a gentleman, who does not know you well enough to take you, and he will tell you of a stroke, that it would seem would lead you to victory. He holds your chin firmly in his hand. You get across the pool, once that way, feel you have accomplished the whole movement, and thank the gentleman, telling him that one more lesson from him and you feel you can learn—that you trust him.

But you never meet that same man again. You will meet probably another one, who will explain that first and foremost you must get a good stroke with your arms. He gives you a lesson in those strokes, and, you wrench your arms almost out of the sockets for he assures you that when you learn that once and practice it you have solved the problem.

Again you go, ready with that stroke, and now keeping entirely away from your friends, who are utterly merciless, you meet another kindly-disposed gentleman, who declares that the "scissors stroke" is everything, and while you learn that, Kicking vigorously out from the side of the pool, you feel that with one more lesson you can assemble all the lessons you have learned into one, and maybe accomplish something.

But Alas—You Are Doomed to Disappointment.

"The scissors stroke," declares an authority, is only for experts, you have been taking the wrong stroke with your arms, it is never right to let any one hold your chin—that does away with the entire principle of balancing the body," and there you are shivering in your bathing suit, for which you have paid a goodly sum, though there is not much of it, and not knowing how to swim an inch.

Don't give up, but just forget your friends. If you see anybody in the pool you scarcely know approach them (it leaves some one to be approached and appealed to), and they will worry with you for one lesson, but unless you prove apt or intensely grateful they are not like the friends, not to be bothered with you or to be cruel with you. There is nowhere in the world where one can feel more dependent, and hopeless and furlodn, than when in a swimming pool not knowing how to swim, and surrounded only by friends. It is a time when you feel absolutely alone and depedient on your own resources, with no place to carry pocketbook, if you had one, and if you did, not even the pocketbook and all it contained would do you any good.

Misery Is No Company There.

Not even seeing many others in your helpless posiiop lightens the burden of what your feeling is, because you know they are not caring about you, but feeling your same helplessness. It would bore them for you to venture a word of sympathy. You can't give up and say, "I can't learn, and I don't care, because you would be called "no sport," and laughed at, so there is nothing to do but go on being deprived of faith in your friends, wearing out your bathing suit, and depending upon strangers or people who do not know you well enough to laugh at you.

There is one compensating thing, however. There is nothing which exhilarates one more than the effort to learn, and there is always the feeling when you get out of the pool that if you could just get back in that moment you could get "the stroke," "the balance," and everything else and swim straight across the pool and duck the friend that has started you worst, and laughed at you the loudest!

This is the stimulus, the incentive that will carry you in forever, when you have once had a taste of the bitter-sweet of going into the pool and not knowing how to swim. No matter how tried you are by your own lack of knowledge or the teasing ways of your friends, you long for the time when you can go in the swimming pool again.

FAILED TO COMPLY WITH INSURANCE LAW

Athens, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Through failure of his organization to learn the law and comply with it in full, reference to fraternal and insurance companies, H. W. Mitchell, here to make Athens his home with his young wife and little children, has been arrested and stopped from his work.

The matter was brought to the attention of Insurance Commissioner Phil A. Wright by an old-line life insurance man here, and that officer at once ordered the solicitor to have a bailiff swear out a warrant for Mr. Mitchell. He protested that he was not intending to violate the law, and had assumed from the superficial secretary of the order, the "Patriarchs," that the Georgia law would be complied with at once. He is to have a committing trial Saturday.

BOY OF 15 ON BICYCLE MEETS DEATH IN FALL

While riding a bicycle along DeKalb avenue, in Decatur, Wednesday morning about 6:30 o'clock, William Davis, 15-year-old son of Ed Davis, of Decatur, fell from his machine and sustained injuries from which he died fifteen minutes later.

The accident occurred within a few yards of the home of Dr. J. H. Phillips, who was immediately summoned by a boy named Hicks, who was riding with the Davis boy. Although Dr. Phillips arrived within ten minutes after the boy fell, he was found to be dead. The body ow young Davis was carried to the home of his father on College avenue, from which place it was later conveyed to the grave of P. J. Bloomfield, of Atlanta.

Young Davis and his chum, Hicks, got out on their wheels shortly after daybreak and rode through Kirkwood and Oakhurst, turning into Decatur at DeKalb avenue, which thoroughfare is paved with gravel and stone. They had journeyed but a short distance on DeKalb avenue when the wheel of young Davis' machine lurched sidewavs in some unexplained manner and tossed him to the ground.

The father of William Davis is a banker, and is also largely interested in manufacturing concerns of Dallas, Ga. He recntly removed to Decatur, and his family is well known there. The lad is survived by his parents, two sisters, Mrs. M. Gheesling and Mrs. T. D. Hall, and one brother, James Davis.

MANUFACTURERS' SHOW WORK IS BEING PUSHED

The work of signing up the remaining space in the manufacturers' exhibit is being vigorously pushed by W. H. Leahy, head of the work, and his assistants.

Since the meeting Tuesday, at the Ansley, more interest than formerly has been created and as Mr. Leahy remarked Wednesday, "Interest are going to make the exhibit a success. More manufacturers are being signed up each day, and within the next few weeks we hope that the required number will have taken space, so that the active work of establishing the exhibit will commence."

It was announced Wednesday that arrangements would be made with the underwriters to carry insurance on the various exhibits along with the regular policies of the various manufacturers.

NEW ATLANTA CHARTER RECEIVES APPROVAL

The Atlanta charter which has finally been approved by the governor is said to be the longest bill passed by the legislature in recent years.

Clerk Bolfeuillet said that it was about the "biggest" bill he had handled in his experience, requiring the time of eight clerks, working twelve hours a day for two days, to copy it. It weighed between eighteen and twenty pounds and stood eight inches high when laid upon a desk.

The new charter is to be submitted to the people at the next municipal election. Electors will have the privilege of voting separately on the provision to curtail the powers of the recorder.

PLAN EARLY CLEANING FOR PEACHTREE CREEK

County Board Will Act Upon Proper Request From City, Says Commissioner Winn.

"If the chief of construction or any other city official has ever made any official request for the county commissioners to do any work in cleaning out Peachtree creek, incident to the inauguration of the new sewage disposal plant, we have no record of it," said Commissioner Tom Winn yesterday on being asked what the commission proposed to do in reference to the several times reported interviews with Chief of Construction Clayton on the emergent demand for this work ahead of the opening of the plant.

"The commissioners have read these interviews," said Commissioner Winn, "but we have never been communicated with officially and it strikes me that the proper way to do at the matter would be for the city through council or construction department to communicate with the board, letting us know officially just what work is necessary to be done. I am sure that the board will give the matter immediate consideration and that it will do the very best that can possibly be done to give the new sewage disposal plant a fair trial and without the handicap that would naturally follow from a congested and sluggish outflow. The city has invested some $750,000 in this plant, which takes care of the sewage of almost half of Atlanta, and the county commissioners are as much interested in its successful operation as anybody else. Having heard nothing officially from the city, however, we have not taken the matter up officially nor can we be expected to do so until the matter is properly presented to us."

What Clayton Says.

On being told of Commissioner Winn's interview, Chief of Construction Clayton said:

"There must be some misunderstanding about this. While I have never formally and officially presented the matter to the commissioners, nor did I think it was necessary to do so, for in personal conversation with practically every one of them I have urged the importance of this work and personally went before the court emphasizing the fact that the removal of the accumulated driftwood of years from the bed of Peachtree creek would be advantageous to the successful operation of a plant costing the city nearly a quarter of a million dollars.

"The plant will be ready for operation in September, and in order to remove any possible doubt as to our responsibility in the matter I will immediately make a plain statement of the facts in the case to the board of county commissioners inviting its cooperation. I will likewise send a duplicate of this written statement to the chairman of the bond commission, which is largely charged with the success of the sewage disposal plant in that it is being erected from a part of the bond money voted for that purpose.

"It strikes me that it is of the utmost importance that this detail be attended to immediately and I will ask the bond commission and the board of county commissioners to get together at once with the view of taking such steps as may be necessary to create a steady flow in the creek, which can be very easily done at comparatively little expense and within two weeks' time. Every delay, however, is serious, and I have time and again given warning that continued delay will jeopardize the operation of a plant on which the city has already spent too much to take any chances."

Chairman Quillian Talks.

On being seen with reference to the matter, Chairman Quillian said:

"I will call a meeting of the bond commission at once so that formal action may be taken on this matter. I understand the committee on public improvement of the county commissioners meets Saturday morning and between now and then the bond commission will endeavor to put in as strong language as it knows how the importance of completing this work before the sewage disposal plant is put into operation. I am sure that every member of the county commission will promptly agree that the city's investment of nearly $750,000 must not be discarded by failure to attend to what is at most a trivial detail as regards cost, and yet a most important detail as regards its bearing upon the successful operation of the plant."

M'NAUGHTON RESPITED TO FRIDAY, OCTOBER 3

Dr. W. J. McNaughton, of Swainsboro, who is under sentence of death for the killing of Fred Flanders, was given a four weeks addition to his lease of life yesterday by Governor Slaton.

Governor Brown had previously respited McNaughton to September 5th. This respite has now been extended until Friday, October 3rd. The purpose of the extension is to give the prison commission an opportunity to hear and pass on an application for clemency in the condemned man, which is now pending.

Several affidavits from physicians have been obtained to indicate that the death of Flanders was not due to arsenic poisoning, which was claimed on the trial by the state, but to acute cirrhosis.

Mrs. Flanders, widow of the dead man, is under indictment for the murder, but her case has never come to trial.

INDUSTRIAL BUREAU TO ISSUE BULLETIN

First Pamphlet Will Contain a Copy of Georgia's "Blue Sky" Law.

Bulletin No. 1 of the Atlanta Industrial and Statistical Bureau containing a copy of the blue sky law, which was passed at the recent session of the legislature, will be issued shortly. This pamphlet will be mailed to bankers, merchants, professional and business men throughout the state, and others who may wish a copy.

This is the first of a series of bulletins which will be prepared under the direction of W. H. Leahy, head of the bureau, which will deal with all matters pertaining to the industrial and commercial life of Georgia and the state-at-large.

Officials of the local chamber consider it particularly appropriate that the first bulletin should deal with the blue sky law, which the chamber of commerce, together with Representatives Spence, of Carroll, and Wohlwender, of Muscogee, were instrumental in framing.

Representatives Spence and Wohlwender did excellent service to the state in introducing this bill in the house, and aiding its passage," said President Wilmer L. Moore. "At the previous legislative session an effort was made to pass a slightly similar bill, modeled after the Kansas one, which effort was a failure. After that session these gentlemen and a committee of the chamber of commerce made a study of the question, and framed up the bill that put through. This committee was composed of H. M. Willet, chairman; Albert Howell, Hudson Moore, T. C. Erwin, W. D. Brady, W. N. Orr, William Hurd Hillyer, J. E. C. Peddey, Cater Woolford, J. M. B. Hoxsey, Edgar Watkins, W. C. Wardlow, Haynes McFadden and J. B. Wood.

DAIRY CAR LECTURES TO COMMENCE TODAY

The "dairy instruction car" which the Southern railway is sending to Atlanta for lectures and demonstrations on better dairying methods Thursday and Friday, will be parked on the east outside track under the Terminal station, and the public will be admitted to it through the train gate. Instructions have been issued to the train callers to admit visitors to the car and to direct them to it, and no convenience or danger will be experienced by those attending.

The lectures and demonstrations will be conducted today at 10 a. m. to 1 p. m. and at 2 to 4:30 p. m. for dairymen and farmers, and tomorrow special meetings will be held during the same hours for consumers of milk.

WRECK ON SEABOARD NEAR LAWRENCEVILLE

Lawrenceville, Ga., August 20.—Special.)—A freight train on the Seaboard Air Line was wrecked about 8 o'clock this morning at Winns Spur, one mile west of Lawrenceville. The engine jumped the track and were totally demolished. The merchandise with which they were loaded being scattered along the track for 200 yards. None of the train crew were hurt. All trains were delayed several hours. The morning trains exchanged passengers and the track was cleared late this afternoon.

Free, Then Rearrested.

Completing a three-year sentence, less time allowed for good conduct, Olney McCormick, committed to the federal prison near Atlanta by the United States court, in session at Trenton, N. J., in 1909 was yesterday given his passport to freedom by Warden Moyer. But as McCormick passed the penitentiary doors he was greeted by a federal officer from Philadelphia showing a warrant for his arrest in which McCormick was charged with having used the mails when he was located in the Quaker City to defraud. Accompanied by the federal officer from Philadelphia, McCormick left the city last night.

Candler Appointed on Staff.

Asa G. Candler, Sr., has again been commissioner a lieutenant-colonel on the governor's staff. His had acted on the staff of Governor Brown but had been retired. It was announced Wednesday that Arthur McCollum, first lieutenant and adjutant of the Second squadron of cavalry, had been promoted to be a captain in the quartermaster's department.

Horse Thief Escapes.

Cleveland, Ga., August 20.—(Special.) Rob Ashe, who is said to have stolen a horse from Robert Sears, of Tesnatee valley, near Cleveland, one afternoon last week, escaped from the White county jail last night by springing two iron window bars apart and swinging to the ground by the aid of a blanket.

STATE SANITARIUM NEEDS NEW BUILDING LEGISLATORS DECIDE

Milledgeville, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The joint committee from the house and senate appointed during the session of the legislature to visit the state sanitarium at Milledgeville met at that institution yesterday. Senator Longino, chairman of the senate committee, and Representative Thompson, chairman of the house committee, are both present and organized the committee for the work.

The committee are making a thorough investigation and inspection of the institution and will remain in session two days.

The regular meeting of the board of trustees was held today and discussed with the committee the needs of the sanitarium.

On Tuesday and Tuesday night this committee of about forty members of the general assembly was taken through the different departments of this vast institution. The visitors expressed wonder and amazement at the magnitude of this great plant. They were also deeply impressed by the work being done by this great charity and the urgent necessity for Georgia to keep it well supported.

On Thursday night the members of this committee visited the negro building, which is one of the most crowded places at the sanitarium, and where one of the greatest needs of the institution exists, that is a new building for the relief of this crowded situation. The committee to a man said that it was the absolute duty of Georgia to come to the relief of this situation.

E. J. NIXON RETURNS TO FACE TRIAL WITH BROTHER FOR MURDER

Hartwell, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Ellis J. Nixon, the well-known young Hart county farmer who is under indictment in Hart superior court for the murder of his brother-in-law, John F. Heaton, has returned to Hartwell and surrendered to Sid Johnson, the sheriff. Nixon is charged with having shot and killed Heaton in Reed Creek district last summer.

He and his brother, P. H. Nixon, were arraigned in a preliminary hearing and they pleaded self-defense. The committing court released the defendants. After this they left Hart county and made a tour of the continent. P. H Nixon was arrested several months ago in Northern Ind. Heaton married a sister of the Nixon boys and they were not living happily together.

The Nixon boys will be tried at the approaching term of Hart superior court, which convenes next Monday. They have retained Gen. H. & Parks Skelton, Skelton & Skelton and A. G. & Julian B. McCurry to defend them. A. G. McCurry will assist the solicitor-general, T. J. Brown.

CLAYTON'S COMMISSION PRESENTED TO SENATE

Washington, August 20.—The commission of Representative Henry D. Clayton as senator from Alabama to succeed the late Senator Johnston was presented to the senate today by Senator Bankhead and referred to the elections committee. It had been withheld because many senators questioned the right of Governor O'Neal to make an appointment without express authority from the legislature.

Senator Bankhead stated that the credentials would be referred to the committee on privileges and elections. The motion prevailed without discussion. Senator Kern, chairman of the committee on privileges and elections has not indicated when the committee will consider the credentials.

Discussing the Clayton case informally, several senators expressed the opinion that no report on the validity of the credentials would be made by the committee before the tariff bill was passed. It was suggested that as soon as report would be a matter of the highest privilege, it would throw the question upon the senate for unlimited debate and indefinitely delay action on the tariff.

TO SEND IMMIGRANTS TO RURAL DISTRICTS

New Orleans, August 20.—Aiming at diverting immigrants from the large centers of population and into the rural districts, particularly in Arkansas, Mississippi, Tennessee and Louisiana, immigration officials of these states will confer with railroad and steamship representatives in New York September 17 and 18. This information was given out today by the Association of Commerce here which has been arranging for the conference for some time.

It is hoped that at this conference some plan may be evolved which will result in a part of the immigrants arriving at New York being sent south and that ultimately many of the newcomers whose destinations are in southern states will be landed at southern ports rather than being transported from New York.

OUT OF WORK, HE ASKS COP TO LOCK HIM UP

Savannah, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—"I am out of work, have been unable to get employment and am tempted to steal," a young man told a patrolman on West Broad street last night. "Won't you lock me up?" he pleaded.

He gave his name as Manuel Noah. He was accommodated. In police court this morning he gave the foregoing explanation of his presence there. The charge of loitering against him was dismissed. The recorder intends to get work for him.

FOR ROBBERY OF TRAIN TWO MEN ARE ARRESTED

Portland, Ore., August 20.—Eugene Jones and Samuel Wold, charged with being two of the bandits who robbed the Soo-Spokane limited in Portland last night, were arrested here today.

Jones was seen coming from the scene immediately after the robbery and while he eluded the police at the time, later was rounded up. Wold, the other prisoner, was arrested on the description given of one of the robbers by a victim.

When searched Wold was found armed with a piece of rubber hose, weighted down at one end with a large steel nut, taken off a railroad fishplate.

Joe Barron, who was dangerously shot during the holdup, is in the hospital today in a critical condition. Beyond saying that he was on top of the observation car stealing a ride and was shot in the back when he started to run, he refused to give any information.

KILLS MAN WHO SAID HE WAS HALF-BROTHER

Claude McDonald Kills Hinton McDonald—Bad Blood Culminates in Fight Over Dog.

Albany, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—When Claude McDonald's dog chased a calf belonging to Hinton McDonald bad blood, which has existed between the two Lee county families boiled over and culminated in a struggle last night in which Claude McDonald killed Hinton McDonald. It is said Hinton claimed to be a half-brother of Claude, a relationship which the latter denied. There were words of abuse, and then, in the first of which neither was injured. Hinton, having exhausted his ammunition, was struck by Claude. Returning, he emptied the shotgun at Claude without effect, and Claude returned the fire with his revolver, killing Hinton.

Sheriff Moreland went to the scene from Leesburg last night and Claude surrendered to him. There was held an inquest last night and this morning, returned a verdict of involuntary manslaughter. Claude McDonald is in jail at Leesburg, but will probably be released under bond.

The killing occurred on E. J. Stocks' place, 6 miles from Albany.

CRAZY COOK POURS HOT FAT ON WOMEN

New York, August 20.—Amelia Dilcher, a cook, rendered temporarily insane by the intense heat of the kitchen in which she was working yesterday, poured boiling fat over three women and a baby of the Dan Island household where she was employed, frightfully burning all four victims. The cook ran from the house and has not been caught.

The injured persons are little Irving Ludwig, 18 months old, child of Berthold A. Ludwig, head of the house; Mrs. Mary Hoioch, niece of Mrs. Ludwig; Mrs. Jennie Flanish, a nurse, and Mrs. Hugh Hanifelt, a laundress.

The four were found in the kitchen floor, writhing in pain, and were taken to a hospital where their condition was said to be serious today.

Bell for Embassy Secretary.

RESINOL CURED ITCHING ECZEMA

Years of Suffering—Immediate Relief.

Cleveland, O., June 2, 1913:—"About eight years ago my hands would get very red—then little blisters would come with pus in them. They would itch, and burn so that I could not sleep at all. I used everything people told me about, and all kinds of blood treatments, but they did me no good. I threw out dozens of pairs of rubber gloves using them when working in water, and still the eczema stayed.

"About two years ago I read about Resinol Soap and Resinol Ointment, and at once bought some at the drug store. They gave me immediate relief, and after using two jars of Resinol Ointment and a cake of Resinol Soap, I can honestly say that my hands are cured. It has been three years already since I am cured, and the eczema has not returned. I really can't say enough about Resinol." (Signed) Mrs. Chas. P. Winchester, 2204 Carroll Ave.

To further prove, even than such a letter, is to try Resinol yourself and see how quickly the trouble disappears. Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap are sold by all druggists. Free trial; Dept. 7-R, Resinol, Baltimore, Md.—(adv.)

Second Place Fight—Double-Header Today

WHIFFS

Some Sentiment.

IT HAS BEEN said that there is no sentiment in professional baseball. This has been disproven. The action of the New York Giants in recalling Otis Crandall from the St. Louis Cards, to whom he had been traded for Mc-Lean, was purely a sentimental move, occasioned by the demands of the players on the club, with whom Crandall was extremely popular.

Will Be O. K.

THE VISIT of Ed Walsh to Boston-setter Reese was a profitable one. The famous specialist in pitchers' ills O. K.'ed with a little rest. This announcement will be greeted with joy by fans all over the country. Walsh is, with Johnson, Matty Iaggin, Vaughner, et all, the star who have spreads each Saturday. The baseball fans, those who help, are a fair game.

May Mean Trouble.

THE WEAKENING of Eddie Plank, the veteran southpaw of Connie Mack's Philadelphia Athletics, bears out the old blow to the Mackites before the season's league pennant. The loss of Plank was Connie's most serious setback. He has not won a game since June 6, and the head of the Athletics has materially decreased. As a result Eddie may prove a stumbling block to Connie. Then all the sooner shall for Connie will be a serious waste of energy.

What They Face.

TOUCHING AGAIN on the subject of the Dixie Baseball League, one can't help but hitch, to a degree, in guessing what it are they going to be up against. If they are not all fakirs, as the league is rumored, then the players have nothing from. If they are affiliated, the players must be of the same stripe as those who are in the league. Here's something that the promoters can study over very carefully.

Another Point.

SOUTHERN league cities can boast of auditoriums and pigskin sports for continuous season. Nashville, Memphis, Birmingham and Atlanta will support enthusiastic baseball and football. In these cities are sure to talk and will go only to witness the league season that are demanding fast baseball under the most ideal conditions.

Wish Them Well.

MOBILE fans are rejoicing at the distribute shown by their team in the close of the winning of the pennant. We admire them in this, and as they are feeling that they can call the game to cop, we hope that nothing will take the opportunity of presenting the little token for their team. It will be well, we hope, for their sake, that the wise not counting their chickens before they are hatched. Still Smith's Crackers are not over with the fight just yet.

A Real Chance.

THE CRACKERS have their most real chance in some time. Today starts a series at Rickwood Field that will determine the ultimate second-place holder. The Billikens, who are now leading the Crackers by a short margin, are here for four games. Three out of four victories would be a great business. If we guess right, Mobile will be the only team to overhaul then.

Look to Vols.

NASHVILLE has been a stumbling block to the Mobile club all season. If they will continue to be a stone block this week, while the Crackers pop from the Billies, the order for the old pennant pole to set up on Poncede Leon park will be delayed at least temporarily. Go on, Allbis, pour it in.

Great Control.

MATHEWSON is undoubtedly the greatest pitcher that ever lived, at least in one respect. He has the greatest control and the greatest endurance. In 1909 in the season, he has issued but 42 passes in balls, or one every nine innings. His percentage is among the leaders. And this after thirteen years of active service.

Is Supreme.

THE GIANTS, when they enter the world's series, will have one player that will not suffer by comparison with any player on the Athletics. He is Charley Herzog, the little outfielder-third baseman, the greatest utility player in the world, for when it comes to playing in the pinch, being the right thing at the right time, when the tension is tightest, Buck is in a class by himself. He demonstrated that against the Red Sox last fall.

Frank Manush's Pinch Hit Breaks Up Pretty Battle; Clean Sweep From Barons

By Dick Jemison.

Frank Manush is the hero of Wednesday's pastime, "Bill Smith Day" at the local ball park. Local utility man was sent in to bat for Calvo in the ninth inning, with the bases full, the score tied and one out. He produced the old pinch and Harry Welchonce clattered across the plan with the run that sent the Barons back with their three straight defeats.

The count was 2 to 1 and it was just about as pretty a ball game as one would care to witness. It was just a question of which team would crack first. The Barons cracked.

Welchonce's win gave the Crackers their seventh straight victory over the Barons and the fifteenth win out of the twenty games the teams have played this season. Eight out of ten were won in Birmingham and seven out of ten in Atlanta.

Just before the game started, "The Loyal Rooters" presented Manager Smith wit a little token of their esteem and he was the recipient of other gifts in the possession of the bench.

The Features.

Joe Conzelman twirled for the Crackers in the first three innings, Joe was not warmed up good. He was wild and was touched up for six of the seven hits he yielded. After the fourth inning, when he walked the first man up and Chapman pegged him out, the next seventeen Barons went out, one, two, three.

The Barons presented Ed Ery, the juggling pitcher, late of the Georgia-Alabama league. He was good for the first few innings, but weakened towards the last and his own wildness in the final inning brought about his downfall.

Harry Welchonce had a great day with the stick. He slashed out four singles in four times up. The first two were clean drives. The next two he beat out to the infield. The last one started the rally and he counted the run that won.

Harry Chapman's pegging was worth the price of admission. Six times the Barons tried to steal and as many times they were turned back to the bench by his unerring aim and the fine putting the ball on the runner of smith and Bisland. They all looked alike to Harry Wednesday.

Agler's Record Broken.

The game was eventful in another respect. It broke the record of Ira Agler, the Crackers' first sacker, made his first error since July 14. In thirty-nine consecutive games, Agler handled 381 chances and the ball that the bobble occurred and it was an easy chance at that. But it was a game they are made. It was the 13th error Agler has made this season.

The Barons were the first to count. Kniseley opened their second inning with a single. McGilvray singled and when Welchonce fumbled, Kniseley went to third. Ellam kicked with a nice safe bunt and Kniseley dented the platter with the Barons' first, last and only tally.

Conzelman tightened right after this and after the first man had been walked in the fourth inning and thrown out by Chapman, only two Barons reached first the remainder of the game. Both were thrown out trying to steal.

The Crackers tied it in the fourth. Long singled, went to third on Conzelman's single and counted on Smith's sacrifice fly.

The Winning Tally.

Welchonce hit a slow roller to Marcan, which was fumbled, to first to start the Cracker's ninth. Smith sacrificed him down. Bisland was pinked on the shins and Bisland was given a free ticket, trimming the cushions.

Frank Manush was yanked from the third base coaching lines to hit for Calvo and he fouled a couple, looked over three bad ones and then punched the next one on a line to center field and Bisland scored, giving Welchonce home with the winning run.

The best week-day crowd in many days were on hand to celebrate Bill Smith's birthday and they were treated to the best game of the ball they have seen this season.

Chattanooga, Tenn., August 20.—Nashville and Chattanooga broke even in a double-header here today. The visitors winning the first 4 to 0 and the locals the second 4 to 2. Beck only allowed two hits in the first, while Summers was wild and received poor support. In the second Boland's bases on balls and scratch hits were good for four runs, while catches by Graham and Johnson helped Kroh. Norvell homered with the bases full for Nashville's two runs. Both games were seven innings by agreement.

Albany, Ga., August 20.—Albany took the last game of the series from Macon today by a score of 10 to 1. Taylor, who relieved Gurdon in the third, was wild and was hammered hard. The game was featured by the fielding of Fish, Dunwoody and Frysack and particularly by a bare-handed catch of a line drive after a long run by Herndon in left, by Fish, who made a high jump for it. Colby was back in the game today after several days illness.

Dobbs' Billies Here Today; SECOND PLACE FIGHT Double Bill Opens Series

The most important series that the Crackers will probably have this season opens here today when they tackle the Billies in the first game of the year with the Mobile Gulls proves otherwise, starts at Ponce de Leon this afternoon.

Johnny Dobbs and his Montgomery Billikens will be the opponents of the locals in a four-game series, which will be opened with a double-header this afternoon, the first game starting promptly at 2:15 o'clock.

The Dobbites hold the second rung of the ladder by a slight margin. They have had the edge on the Crackers all season. Of the fifteen games played, they have won nine and the Crackers six.

By waltzing in and copping three of the four battles, the locals will climb over the Billies and will be right on the heels of the leading Gulls. Who will be having their troubles in succumbing the Nashville Vols the same days.

The present series will be the most important as by winning the majority of the games the Crackers will be in position to challenge the Gulls for the title. This series has to be won before any challenge can be made.

Gibson, Price and Carl Thompson will probably do the hurling honors for the locals. The Brown boys, Elmer and Curly, both hard nuts for the Crackers all season, will fling for the Dobbites. Two great battles are promised.

McLoughlin and Bundy Retain Their Titles

Newport, R. I., August 20.—That a complete mastery of the game of tennis cannot be achieved in a year was demonstrated on the Casino courts here today when Maurice E. McLoughlin and T. C. Bundy, national doubles champions, successfully defended their title against Wm. M. Johnston and R. Griffin, the challengers. The championship pair defeated their youthful rivals in straight sets, 6-4, 6-3, 6-4, and even these figures do not express the margin of victory always in favor of the older and more experienced players.

Bundy won by virtue of their spectacular march through the preliminary rounds of the doubles earlier in the week, but expected by many spectators to give McLoughlin and Bundy a stubborn fight, they were utterly actually crossed rackets with the champions, however, it was seen that their chances of victory in the face of the doubles masters. They played a strong, steady game, but it was clear that, notwithstanding their youthfulness, they were not capable of conquering the veteran pair across the net.

The challengers played their best game even when they realized defeat was theirs, but throughout the champions were piling up the points. An adequate idea of the difference between the two pairs may be gained from the fact that McLoughlin and Bundy scored points next to 21 by their younger rivals. On nets, double faults and cuts by their opponents, the champions gained 17 points, while giving away 37.

McLoughlin and Bundy appeared to be slow in getting started and early in the match the younger pair frequently killed the champions' shots. They played to the latter at every opportunity, for Bundy's game was easier to handle than McLoughlin's. The latter's service troubled the youngsters.

Strachan and Griffin made their stand in the second set, but while they carried it to deuce, they were unable to break through. Bundy then played the steadier game, while McLoughlin furnished spectacular smashes. Both Strachan and Griffin netted and outed repeatedly. At the finish the champions swung into their old-time game and simply smothered the challengers.

Play in the winners' singles continued uninterrupted by the doubles match and with one or two exceptions, the bracket tennis proceeded through according to form. R. Norris Williams, second, defeated S. H. Voshell, three sets to one. Williams won from Voshell on his own court in straight sets, and W. M. Johnston had likewise won from Griffin. The most game in the defeat of Alfred Putnney by Bill Evans, Jr. Strachan and Bundy, who had clashed each other in the doubles, met again and the 18-year-old loser of the forenoon bout defeated Bundy. Robert Le-Roy also won in impressive style.

The singles field is now reduced to eighteen players, in which the east is represented by four stars and the west by two.

Play in the interscholastic title round opened with victories for G. O'Connor over M. Hopkins and Wm. Wister over S. A. Cushman. The winners will meet W. D. Mosle and W. Hall, who drew byes, tomorrow. William M. Johnston, of California, and R. Norris Williams, second and third Davis cup team, also will be contenders Thursday.

WORK IS STARTED ON THE AUTODROME

Large Squad of Men Started Clearing Ground Wednesday—All Will Be Bustle Until Track Is Finished.

Secretary Frank Weldon, of the Atlanta Autodrome Athletic association, which will control auto racing at Atlanta's big autodrome, had a large force of men at work at the grounds where the big wooden saucer will go up Wednesday.

Three men were put to work clearing off the ground of all shrubbery, stubs, etc., getting ready for the grading, which will start right from that point toward the actual building of the big track.

The clearing will require a few days, and as very little grading is necessary, work on the track will commence within the next week or ten days and rushed to a rapid completion.

Everything will go along smoothly, and if it continues to do so, the track will be ready for the first races in October.

JOCK M'NEIL DEAD; RACES POSTPONED

Motorcycle Racer Succumbs to Injuries Without Regaining Consciousness--Funeral and Interment Today.

Jock McNeil, the little Scotchman, whose death-defying stunts were a revelation to local speed fans, died early Wednesday morning at Grady hospital from injuries received on the local saucer Monday afternoon. McNeil never regained consciousness after his fall.

McNeil came to America from Edinburgh, Scotland, where he had learned to ride a motorcycle. He was probably the most popular rider at the local track. He knew how to ride and brought all the tricks of the game into play, which resulted in thrill after thrill to all those who witnessed the races he entered.

The accident which resulted in his death happened Monday afternoon during practice. In some manner he got up on the perpendicular boards at the top of the track. Not built to withstand the tremendous strain, he cracked and McNeil and his great machine hurtled diagonally down the track, bringing up with a crash 300 feet away.

McNeil was picked up unconscious and hustled to Grady hospital. His right leg was broken, his shoulder dislocated. He was cut and bruised in many places and internally injured. He was picked up unconscious and remained that way until he died.

McNeil's body was taken to Greenberg & Bondy chapel, where the funeral will be held this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. He is survived by his mother, who is in Scotland; a sister in Cleveland, Ohio, and a brother, who is in Atlanta, and has taken charge of the body.

Out of respect to McNeil's memory, the motorcycle races scheduled for Friday night have been postponed until Tuesday.

CAPT. SPRATT SECOND IN LEECH CUP MATCH

Great Shooting Done by the Georgian on the Camp Perry Range.

Camp Perry, Ohio, August 20.—The fifth day of the matches of the National Rifle association produced more record scores.

The Leech cup match, fired on the 800-yard, the 900-yard and 1,000-yard ranges, opened with 571 entries. The match was won by George Wheeley, of Connecticut, who scored a possible 105 in 15 bullseyes. Besides the cup he will be awarded a cash prize of $50. Second place was taken by Captain W. E. Spratt, of Georgia, with a score of 105 and 14 bullseyes.

In the championship regimental team match, open to all service teams, military organizations and United States military and naval academies and cadets organizations, there were thirty-five teams entered. This match was shot on the 200 and the 500 and 1,000 ranges.

The winner was the first team of the Massachusetts, which scored 832, while the Fifty-third Iowa was second with 828.

The Argentine regular army and the Peruvian team did very good work in the long range matches, but the new service ammunition they loaned them for this match, a Petition of the Argentine, scored only 101 in the Leech match with scores of 14 at 800 yards, 37 at 900 yards and 24 at 1,000 yards.

BLAMING THE GIRL DIDN'T SAVE DIGGS

demonstration of any sort when the expected blow fell.

The case won national notoriety when United States Attorney John T. McNab resigned, charging that the trial had been delayed by political influence, and made public his resignation in an open letter to President Wilson.

Caminetti's Trial Today.

Drew Caminetti, co-defendant with Diggs, will be placed on trial before Judge Van Fleet, in the United States district court, today.

Prosecutor Denounces Diggs.

Nine ballots were taken by the jury and from the first the jurors were unanimous for conviction on the first four counts, but on the fifth, charging the defendant with persuading, advising and inducing Marsha Warrington to go from Sacramento to Reno for immoral purposes, and on the sixth, charging the same offense with respect to Lola Norris they obstinately disagreed.

With reference to Marsha Warrington the vote stood seven for acquittal and five for conviction for the nine consecutive ballots.

With reference to Lola Norris, the vote stood ten for conviction and two for acquittal. Likewise for the nine consecutive ballots.

Sentence will be pronounced on Tuesday, September 2, Judge Van Fleet set the bail at $5,000 on each count, making $20,000 in all. I. P. Diggs, the defendants father, and Marshall Diggs, his uncle, both were ready with bonds in the amount named, and United States Commissioner Krull was ready to accept them tonight.

Counsel for the defense announced that they would appeal to the highest court in the land, and asked for ten days in which to file petition for a writ of error to the United States circuit court of appeals.

"Remember, gentlemen of the jury, that 9,000,000 people are watching you this day, watching you to be informed whether justice shall triumph or lust shall rule; watching to see if the laws for the protection of girls and women are to be enforced in this fair western land."

This was the close appeal today of Theodore Roche, representing the United States district attorney.

"This defendant," said Roche, "did not deny on the stand the truth of the essential facts we have shown, and there he comes before you and asks acquittal.

"The defendant in a criminal case usually takes refuge in the presumption of innocence but this defendant relies on his own depravity. He comes into court covered with his own shame and hides behind the skirts of his wife and child.

She Trusted Diggs.

"When these girls went to Reno their depravity was the social ostracizement. Marsha Warrington went because she believed and trusted this man. She fixed a desirable home, dresses of pretexts. Her parents gave her these. But this man had promised her marriage, as Caminetti had promised Lola Norris.

"Those promises were never intended to be kept. What was intended was to abandon the girls in Reno. They never could have returned to Sacramento—and you know what that meant. But the alluring promise of marriage had been held out to them."

Attorney Roche was particularly severe with Diggs for the misconduct in his own home to which he testified yesterday. He had not been content, said Roche, with making an assignation house out of his office but he was similarly to degrade the privacy of a home he shared with a virtuous and loving wife.

Plea of Diggs' Attorney.

In seeking to establish that the trill was not premeditated and that the two girls had not been induced to take it by threats of scandal on one hand and promises of marriage on the other, Diggs willingly testified to his own misconduct and the embarrassments, domestic and business, into which it had led him.

His counsel in summing up the evidence did not palliate these acts.

"Paint this defendant as you will—a monster if you please," argued Robert Irving, Diggs' counsel, "but tell me what motive he would have had in going out of the state for the purpose of accomplishing what these things already accomplished."

Counsel may characterize him as they please but we differ with them. They say his act was shameless and it may be the same way about it, but it isn't white slavery.

This was the whole argumentative substance of the defense. There remained the rhetorical and the emotional appeals and, of course, they were not neglected. The girls were blamed for tempting the men. They were called willing accomplices in what evil had been done and the wisdom of trusting a woman loved and scorned when she bears witness against the lover who has discarded her was called into question.

The Judge's Charge.

"The evidence is all before you," said Judge Van Fleet, in charging the jury, "and it is for you to say where the truth lies. The defendant has taken the stand in his own behalf and so far as his testimony tends to contradict the testimony of the girls—the charges against him it is somewhat at variance with that of the defendant. However, does not cover the entire ground of the testimony which tends to show relations between himself and Caminetti and these girls down in the Sacramento valley which, if the evidence of the government tends to show the trip to Reno was planned by the conspirators and has given none of the incidents of that trip contending him-self with merely referring it as having been taken. This was the defendant's privilege, but in considering the evidence you have a right to take this omission of the defendant into consideration since it is the legitimate inference that could be have explained the incriminating evidence against him he would have done so.

"If you find these girls were taken to Reno by the defendant in the manner charged, the only question remaining is as to the intent with which they were so taken.

"There is a homely adage that 'Actions speak louder than words,' and the truth of this maxim is applicable to judicial inquiries as in the ordinary affairs of life.

"And even if you find the defendant and his companion, Caminetti, were actuated in their departure or flight from Sacramento by a fear of capture or arrest, but that, nevertheless, in taking these two girls along there existed the intention to subject them to the immoral purpose charged, the defendant is guilty.

"If that immoral purpose was one factor in inducing him to leave Sacramento and take the girls with him, it matters not that he may also have had other and lawful or other considerations moving him to take that trip. He would, nevertheless, be guilty."

GOOD WATER SPORTS.

Exciting Finishes Mark Races at Lakewood Wednesday.

By Carl Taylor.

Before a rather large crowd of water sportsdimers, Lakewood's first meet was pulled off without a hitch. The races were all bitterly contested, and plenty of excitement was furnished those present.

Winners of each race were presented silver cups by the management.

The most interesting and exciting race of the afternoon was the mile relay race which was won by Myers and Enloe.

Captain Schlomberg did not exert himself at the start, as he seemed to have a good lead, which Myers, by excellent spurts, overcame and tied him.

Aside from the races, the high diving of Frank Austin, a 12-year-old youth, who dove from a 32-foot tower, was spectacular.

The demonstration of life-saving given by Captain B. H. Schlomberg, was an enjoyable feature. Captain Schlomberg has successfully saved one hundred and four people from drowning.

The events were run off in the order below:

One-Mile Relay Race—First half, tie between Schlomberg and C. W. Myers. Time, 15.58. Second half won by Myers. Enloe over C. T. Walthour. Time, 15.09.

Time for mile won by Myers and Enloe, 37.07.

Fifty-Yard Race.

First, Fraser; second, tie between Hal Isaacs and Billet Jones. 31 1-5.

One-Hundred-Yard Race.

First, Hall; second, Billet. Time, 1.12.

Forty-Hundred-and-Forty-Yard Race.

First, Enloe; second, Walthour; third, Cowles. Time, 3.35 1-10.

SLANG IS BEATEN.

2,004 Chicago Fans Vote Against and 1,926 For.

Chicago, August 20.—Slang, as a means of the proper description of baseball games in the newspapers, with all its little bend straight-forward English, according to the verdict of several thousand readers in a test vote taken by a Chicago newspaper which was announced today. Of a total of 3,930 ballots received today 2,004 declared for the English prescribed by the dictionaries, and 1,926 were in favor of the use of slang.

The figures in favor of the pure English were qualified by several thousand voters who expressed themselves in favor of the use of a moderate amount of snappy descriptive phrases, not limited necessarily to dictionary words, however. Many voted in favor of slang, but advocated the elimination of nicknames.

In the course of the balloting numerous college students and educators declared in favor of slang, while a majority of baseball players, club owners and managers expressed a preference for pure English.

Batteries—Winder: Fox, Smith and Gresham; Jefferson: Collier and Superiere. Fox gave up one hit, Winder getting four off Collier.

GEN. HUERTA IS TART TO PRESIDENT WILSON

bring about peace, and they do not conceive that there will be any pressure to bring about intervention.

To grant arms to the constitutionalists would, in the opinion of many officials, only add to the dangers of anarchy in the republic, outspoken Mandit bodies with weapons of destruction of which they hitherto have been deprived.

Precedent for "Hands Off."

That the United States will keep "hands off" was considered more than likely in many quarters here tonight, and administration officials pointed to an important precedent for such action during the term of President Hayes, when General Porfirio Diaz assumed the reigns of government, May 2, 1877, after defeating the forces of President Lerdo.

Germany recognized Diaz on May 30 of that year, Salvador and Gautemala on June 7 and Spain on June 16, there being no other governments except the United States represented at Mexico City at that time.

In President Hayes' message in December, 1877, he announced that recognition of the Diaz government had been deferred on account of the opposition to him in northern Mexico and Minister John W. Foster was instructed by Secretary Seward to state that "the Washington government would wait before recognizing General Diaz as president of Mexico until it shall be assured that his election is approved by the Mexican people and that his administration is possessed of stability to endure and of disposition to comply with the rules of international comity and the obligation of treaties."

It was not until May, 1878, nearly a year after Diaz came into power, that of the de facto government in Mexico City, that recognition was extended by the United States. During the interval, however, correspondence was maintained through the legation as at present through the embassy, due attention being called to the necessity for protecting American lives and property.

Recognition to Be Deferred.

The present administration proposes to defer recognition until a constitutional election shall have been held and President Wilson stands firmly against recognizing the Huerta regime under any circumstances. From these considerations, it is not likely that Mr. Lind's informal parleys with the Huerta officials will continue long.

He will remain in Mexico City indefinitely, however, as adviser to the American embassy, which is without an ambassador. He will continue to make reports on the situation to President Wilson and remain, so far as possible, cordial relations with the de facto government for the purpose of obtaining proper protection to American interests.

Advices that the Huerta government is seriously handicapped by lack of funds, that there is little money with which to pay troops and news of constitutionalist victories strengthen the belief in official circles here that a settlement of the revolution will be accomplished by the constitutionalists within a short period.

AMERICAN PROPOSALS REJECTED BY HUERTA

Mexico City, August 20.—The proposals of the Washington government, which Mexico rejected in toto:

First, complete cessation of hostilities; second, that President Huerta resign in favor of a president ad interim; third, the fixing of an early date for the presidential election, and fourth, that General Huerta should not be a candidate for the presidency.

An additional feature of the American note was the request for a reply to the question as to what, in the opinion of General Huerta, the present conditions were due and what is the remedy.

General Huerta's flat refusal to accede to the four demands would appear to be sufficient reason to consider that the negotiations between the two governments were definitely concluded, but replying to Washington's pointed request for an explanation regarding conditions in Mexico and the cause, General Huerta himself injected into the controversy what might be regarded as a counter-demand, namely, that of recognition.

In a general way, President Huerta places the blame for Mexico's civil war upon the United States. He insists that had it not been for President Wilson's refusal to recognize his administration, he long ago would have suppressed the rebellion, and even now he asserts, the United States can indirectly enable him to restore order in a comparatively short time. He asks of the United States government only recognition and the withdrawal of the American battleships.

Reassuring Mexican Public.

Frederico Gamboa, Mexican foreign minister, and other officials of the government, continue to reassure the public—utilizing the local press for the purpose—that the negotiations have not been concluded, but on the contrary are progressing cordially and satisfactorily. The foreign minister goes so far as to say that in his opinion a wholly satisfactory arrangement will be reached within a few days.

At the American embassy no one is promising or denying a resumption of the negotiations. Mr. Lind did not appear very optimistic on this score today. Well-informed Mexicans and foreign residents see little probability of further peaceful overtures, although it is conceded there is an element within the government that would keenly welcome fresh overtures on the part of Washington.

This group is composed of those who, it is assured, believe that the government went too far in its reply, practically all Mexicans regard General Huerta's action as patriotic, but there are many who regard it as far from wise.

Certain well-informed Mexicans say it would be no surprise to them if the government of Mexico submitted to Mr. Lind some proposition which might serve as a basis upon which to renew negotiations.

Mr. Lind and the Mexican foreign minister had another long conference today, but the nature of the conversation has not been revealed.

Lord Jumped Over Ray.

Washington, August 20.—Major Herbert M. Lord, paymaster in the army quartermaster corps, has been selected for promotion to the rank of lieutenant colonel to fill the vacancy which in the ordinary course would have been filled by Major Beecher B. Ray, whose alleged political activities have been discussed before a congressional committee. The attorney general recently advised the navy department that it would be legal to "jump" one officer over the head of another.

Killed Himself in Barroom.

Beaumont, Texas, August 20.—Under pretense of going to search for a trunk key, Miss Susie Taylor, of Brewton, Ala., aged 20, today locked herself in the bathroom at the home of her uncle here, T. E. Bass, and discharged the contents of a shotgun into her breast. She died instantly. She was here on a visit.

U. S. JUDGE SPEER MAY LOSE POSITION

circuit courts of appeals and of the supreme court of the United States in certain cases.

That he was absent from his district when he should have been attending to his duties in court.

That, contrary to law, he tried cases outside of his district.

There were other charges relating to what the judge's accusers claimed to be arbitrary conduct, and one relating to personal habits. The accusations in part are a reiteration of attacks made on Judge Speer from time to time during his many years of service since his appointment to the federal bench by President Arthur.

Georgia Delegation May Act.

Members of the Georgia delegation in the house are greatly interested in the investigation and probably will hold a conference within the next day or two to discuss it. One of their number, it was said tonight, may be designated informally to start action in the house by introducing a resolution. Judge Speer will be given an opportunity to appear before the judiciary committee just as Judge Archbold was accorded that right in the last impeachment case.

Neither Senator Bacon nor Senator Smith would discuss the charges today as in the event the house should impeach Judge Speer they would have to sit as judges on the case.

Chairman Clayton, at the direction of the committee, issued a brief statement after today's meeting, the burden of which was that the department of justice had transmitted to the committee a report hearing upon Judge Speer's official conduct; that the committee examined only a portion of the report and exhibit, and adjourned until next Friday to "as soon as possible determine what, if anything, the committee should do with respect to such report and papers."

Mr. Clayton said the committee did not think it proper to make any further information at this time.

Wilson Advised of Report.

Various charges against the judge have been brought during the last three or four years, but the investigation of which Attorney McReynolds presented a report today has been conducted during the last year by special agents.

Judge Speer, in a recent speech, denounced what he characterized as the espionage of federal agents upon judges, and Senator Borah recently charged that federal agents had harrassed judges by investigations to influence their action in cases in which the government was interested.

It became known today that President Wilson and Attorney General McReynolds have conferred at length over the investigation of Judge Speer's office and that the president, after being advised of the contents of the report of the investigating agents was cognizant of the intention of the attorney general to submit the findings to the house judiciary committee for action.

Outcome of the Huff Case.

Macon, Ga., August 20.—The charges against Judge Speer were the outcome of the contempt proceedings against Colonel W. A. Huff, an aged citizen of Macon, whose entire property has been in litigation in Judge Speer's court for many years. Colonel Huff wrote a sensational letter to Judge Speer, using serious charges against Speer, and had him arrested for contempt.

When Colonel Huff was arraigned Judge Speer declined to hear the case, but said he would get another judge. The matter was in status quo for a year, but when Colonel Huff threatened to write the judge another letter, Judge W. I. Grubb, of Birmingham, was ordered here to try the case. He declared Colonel Huff guilty of contempt of court, but never yet passed any sentence on him.

Shortly after the Huff trial R. C. Lewis and several other guests of the department of justice came to Macon and spent several weeks going over Judge Speer's record, interviewing litigants in the courts and other attorneys.

Judge Speer at present is at his summer home in Mount Airy, Ga.

Class Banquet Tonight.

Memories of old school days will be revived tonight when the class of 1910 Boys' high school, will hold their annual reunion at 8:30 o'clock at Harry Silverman's, Houston and North Pryor streets. The banquet hall promises to surpass anything of the kind that has class has ever given, and it is expected that every member in Atlanta and the surrounding country will be present to talk of old times.

COTTON ACTIVE AND ADVANCING

Uneasiness Over Crop Outlook Caused Advance in Prices. Market Closed Very Steady 11 to 30 Points Up.

New York, August 20.—The cotton market was more active and trading more general today than for weeks, if not months past, while prices not only made new high ground for the movement, first sold up to or over the 11½c level on most of the new crop months. The advices seemed to reflect increasing uneasiness over the new crop outlook, and rumors that the less favorable character of the news in this respect was stimulating a better demand from spinners, probably added to the activity of the buying movement. Realizing caused slight reactions from time to time during the day, but the general tendency was upward with the highest levels reached on the late trading and with the close very steady at a net gain of from 11 to 30 points.

Further deterioration reports from the southwest were received in higher Liverpool cables, and the market here opened firm at an advance of from 3 to 11 points.

There was a good deal of realizing at the advance, and some early irregularity was promoted by the views of local map readers, who thought that prospects were better for showers in the southwest. The official forecast, however, was for generally fair weather in the belt, which held and the market quickly firmed up again on active buying by Wall street and local commission houses. Cotton people were also good buyers while some thought to be for mill account, while New Orleans and southwestern wire houses buying orders here which were supposed to be influenced by unfavorable crop accounts.

Reports of scattered showers in Texas checked the advance and caused reactions of 5 or 6 points during the early afternoon, but offerings were not aggressive, and prices later sold 29 to 31 points net higher on active new crop positions, while the new crop contracts touching on active new crop positions with December contracts touching 11.52, or 62 points above the low record of last week. The close was within a point or two of the best.

New Orleans Cotton.

New Orleans, August 20.—The cotton market took on a material rise today, on continued reports of crop deterioration in the belt of Texas and Oklahoma. Buying for long account increased and shorts were forced to cover. Offerings came chiefly from buyers of the earlier positions.

On the opening, the tone was steady and prices were 5 to 9 points higher, with considerable activity reported. During the early hours of trading, on the forecast of generally fair weather for the entire belt, a reaction of 10 points was witnessed to about 10 points, but this was followed by a rally on the cables and offerings began to diminish, due to the cessation of the recent rains in the belt and the belief that the crop is in the condition to withstand any damage it may have received. Reports of Texas control that the boll weevil damage will be less than at first estimated, while the severely injured territory in Oklahoma is being the more than was expected.

In the afternoon, the market was stronger than ever and the second hour of trading showed the prices, which was at practically the highest of the day. The market was closed steady at the close at 6 to 10 points net higher.

Spot cotton quiet, unchanged; 172 sales on the spot and to arrive; middling, 12.14; ordinary, good ordinary, 11.14; strict low middling, 11.64; low middling, 11.89; strict good middling, 12.39; good middling, 12.64; strict middling, 12.89; middling fair, 13.14; receipts, 1,558; stock, 48,780.

Dry Goods.

New York, August 20.—Cotton goods markets are firmer and advances of ½c on 4 yard hare been made on wide sheetings. Wide sheetings will advance in the wholesale markets. Other lines of merchandise for immediate delivery are being offered more generally. Woolen yarns are steady. Cotton yarns are quiet and steady.

John F. Black & Co.

New York, August 20.—It was a real bull market today. There is a different feeling in the cotton world since it has been realized how bitterly the south is fighting the Clarke rider. It may be finally disposed of the night before the big bull year in cotton. Trade interests and Wall street bought heavily today and there was a great deal of short covering. Active months closed up 25 to 29 points and the March closed very steady at the top. Liverpool is due to come 7 to 8 points up.

Hubbard Bros. & Co.

New York, August 20.—With no indication of rain of the southwest the fear of the results of dry weather was the bull factor today. Private orders from local and southwestern houses also were a feature of the buying. Bears on the other hand have looked all day for a reaction but only temperate setback followed upon buying, while those in the northern part of the state are unimpressed by the forecasts. There were reports of deterioration from Alabama and Georgia, but the weather map showed no rain. Trade in Liverpool, being afraid to have many contracts open in America, was on the trade fair side. Any sharp and attractive rise and reaction should occur, but the ultimate course of prices will be governed by the extent of the damage.

Coffee.

New York, August 20.—Higher cables, reports of unfavorable Brazilian crops and steadiness in the spot and freight market caused further advance in coffee today. The opening was active, 5 to 15 points up. Prices worked gradually higher, closing steady at a gain of 11 to 14 points.

Gibert & Clay.

New York, August 20.—Hides are increased and Sterling Exchange advanced on the long bill account. Lead is unchanged from the recent close. The dry weather prevailing in the corn belt has caused interest to spread to other grains, the market for which has been in quiet consideration, followed buying for long account. Reports of crop conditions were in the market, with international the condition that the world's visible supply is decreasing fast at least a part of this requirements.

Cotton Seed Oil.

New York, August 20.—In sympathy with the strength in cotton, the cotton seed oil market was active and higher today, with the opening unchanged to 5 points higher. Fair support of the line that has been relatively too low. The prime was 9 points lower to 1 higher. Sales 10,000 barrels.

BULLISH CABLES ADVANCED WHEAT

Market, However, Became Weak Toward the Close on Profit-Taking Sales—Corn Also Higher—Oats Lower.

Chicago, August 20.—Wheat today was dominated largely by the foreign situation, bullish cables imparting strength that lasted throughout the session until the final hour, when the market weakened somewhat on profit-taking sales. The net result was a gain of ⅛ to ⅜ net higher. Corn closed at a net advance of ⅛@⅜c to ⅝@¾c. Oats finished ⅛@⅜c lower. Provisions were a shade to 5c higher.

The cables brought news of wheat shorts covering at Liverpool, told of rather unfavorable crop conditions in Germany and France and Hungary and carried predictions of experts that for some time yet Europe would depend on America for most of her choice, dry wheat. To this bullish news was added pointers that damage was to a certain extent in progress in the Canadian northwest. Another thing that helped send prices up were the large export clearances of 700,000 wheat and flour, which equalled 1,197,000 bushels. Good milling demand, especially from the southwest, also helped to put prices firm. Primary receipts of wheat today were 1,038,000 bushels against 1,143,000 last year.

Some of the recent bull snap was out of the corn market today, as traders believe a turn is due. However, there was a firm undertone and influential buying caused price recoveries after each dip. One sustaining factor was the prediction of an authority that the total corn crop, because of the recent drouth damage in the southwest would be only 2,250,000,000 bushels.

Oats lagged in line with trade trading after a firm start. Selling by leading commission houses for southwest account was the feature of that market.

Higher prices at the yards reflecting, in some degree, losses caused by hog cholera in certain sections, and the surplus corn stated stiffened provision prices, though at the close there were reactions on liberal offerings.

GOVERNOR ENDS TASK OF SIGNING BILLS

All Measures of General Nature Are Approved—Chatham Resolution Vetoed.

Governor Slaton finished his task of signing bills and joint resolutions passed at the last session of the legislature before leaving his office yesterday afternoon. The last bill was disposed of at about 6 o'clock.

All of the general bills passed by the legislature received the governor's approval. There were only two general bills about which there was ever any doubt, namely, the bill to create a home for war-wrecked girls and the bill raising the automobile license tax to $6, the proceeds of the same to be distributed among the counties to be used in road construction.

Some legal objections had been raised to the last named measure, but the governor decided to give his approval to it and let the legal difficulties, if there were any, be handled in the courts.

One local measure was disapproved by the governor. It was a resolution directing the secretary of state to grant land in Chatham county, not to exceed 5,000 acres to the trustees of the Chatham academy. Investigation showed that the measure, which had been read the required three times in the house, had never been read but twice in the senate.

The resolution came to the governor too late to make a thorough investigation this year. Inasmuch as there are two several opinions of former attorneys general against making the grant, he decided to withhold his approval without prejudice to that if a bill is passed in proper form at the next session he may sign it.

SLUSH FUND OF $12,000 RAISED BY 3-BALL MEN

Attorney Davis Got $4,000 for Introducing Pawnbrokers to Taft.

Washington, August 20.—George D. Horning, a Washington pawnbroker, told the house lobby committee today the total slush fund raised to defeat the federal loan shark bill was nearly $12,000. Three pawnbrokers put in $5,750 and he raised $3,000 from men in the chattel mortgage business in and out of Washington. About $6,500 of the $8,000 was unspent. The $8,000 was kept separate from the brokers' fund and was given to Taft in 1911 and Representative Mellermott, of Illinois, is alleged to have arranged to get $5,000 to work against the bill.

Horning testified that Henry E. Davis, a Washington attorney, got $4,000 from each fund. Davis arranged a hearing for the brokers before President Taft. Mr. Taft signed the bill, however. Horning also testified one Mr. Hill, of Philadelphia, and a similar amount from a Mr. Walsh, of Illinois. Horning declared he didn't trouble Mellermott over the passage of the bill. He was a card man. He had an honorary membership in a union and the "only thing he ever did for the pawnbrokers in the bill" said Horning.

Horning denied that any of the $12,000 had been spent in an improper way and said that the balance, more than $5,000, still in his private safe, would be used in fighting the bill in the courts or in trying to have another measure agreeable to the brokers introduced in congress.

It was Horning who I. H. McMichael, one time chief page of the house, swore made an arrangement with Representative Thomas T. Mellermott whereby Mellermott was to get $7,500 for working against the loan bill. Horning denied that he had ever given McDermott any money.

AT THE THEATERS.

Comedy Drama.

(At the Bijou.)

The theme of the week at the Bijou, a comedy drama, had its presentation this afternoon at the matinee performance of the Travis Kelley company. The play, "The Medium's Nemesis," was well received by the matinee audience this afternoon with a matinee the play-goers seemed to enjoy more than the performance. The play is one of the strongest bills that could be put on the boards, and that is sure to make the biggest kind of a hit.

Refreshable have been in progress for nearly a week, and although the season has not yet begun in earnest, the indications are that it will be a splendid one. Manager Travis has surrounded himself with a splendid company, and the performance is assured for Monday.

Keith Vaudeville.

(At the Forsyth.)

There are no vacant seats at the matinee or night performances at the Forsyth this week. Since the opening of the new Keith vaudeville house last Monday afternoon with a matinee the playgoers have been coming to the Forsyth in droves. Manager Keith has one of the strongest bills that could be put on the boards, and that is sure to make the biggest kind of a hit.

Refreshable have been in progress for nearly a week, and although the season has not yet begun in earnest, the indications are that it will be a splendid one. Manager Travis has surrounded himself with a splendid company, and the performance is assured for Monday.

Moving Pictures.

(At the Grand.)

A great many people have been "Vitaseyed" at the Grand this week, a five-reel motion picture play. But it is as different from the ordinary run of the Vitagraph as the United States navy. First of all, it is longer than the ordinary Vitagraph picture. But the case was one that the rulers of the world figured that a value in interesting the people in what the department really knows. It is a great deal like the old Pathe weekly, only better. It is not to be seen again in Atlanta, however, and it is very well worth the while of those who have not yet visited the Grand to see it. The Vitagraph people have secured a lot with the exclusive moving picture rights of the Panama-Pacific exhibition. There will be changes in the program all week.

for once in his life has refused to be interviewed. He has talked vaguely of matters not appertaining to his escape but not one word has come from him regarding his flight from Matteawan, or of the inception of the plot that led to his delivery or of the five men who spirited him away.

Of these five, one is believed to be in jail in Shreveport. He gave the name of "Mitchell Thompson" and insisted that he was a resident of Toronto. But Sheriff Hornbeck and District Attorney Conger, of Dutchess county, New York, who looked over him today, said he was none other than "Gentleman Roger" Thompson, late of New York city and reputed chauffeur of the black automobile that whirled Thaw from Matteawan at more than sixty miles an hour.

Thompson was idling in the superior court room, waiting for the Thaw case to come on, when the immigration officers arrested him. He was quickly identified as one of the two men with Thaw when, "Gentleman Roger" took to the woods yesterday. He denied that he had aided Thaw in crossing the border and maintained that he had met the fugitive by accident. Notwithstanding his protestations of innocence, he was held in $500 bail for a hearing Friday. Unable to furnish bond, he was remanded to jail.

Messrs. Conger and Hornbeck waited like the others for the disposition of the case of the anti-tuberculosis association immigration authorities when it was announced that the application for the writ of habeas corpus had been granted and would come up for argument in the morning.

"I am glad to get Thaw," said Mr. Conger, "off him I will."

Thaw a Busy Man.

Thaw was a busy man with his secretaries and attorneys today. Copies of the former was by telegram, and he received frequent assurances of support from relatives and friends. His mother, Mrs. Mary Copley Thaw, however, had up to tonight sent him no word, as far as could be learned.

Perhaps the most lightening of the telegrams he sent was that which indicated a sense of lonesomeness and a longing for a direct word from some one near him in the midst of the fight for liberty. His sister, Mrs. Margaret Thaw Carnegie, wife of George Lauder Carnegie, the Pittsburgh millionaire, that she was ready to start for Sherbrooke "if I can be of any help to you." His answer was: "Yes, come. I need you. HARRY."

Mrs. Carnegie's action was equally prompt and quite as emphatic, for she notified her mother that both she and her husband would be here to greet him tonight. They reserved rooms at a local hotel, but Thaw expressed a wish to his counsel that his sister be brought to the jail immediately she arrived.

Other telegrams sent or received by Thaw referred to legal and medical questions, and to the question of the possibility of extraditing him, offers of assistance from detectives and a call by him upon his relatives in Pittsburg.

Thaw Told to Draw for Money.

This was answered by a telegram from the Union National bank saying, "Draft up to your order for $5,000 only a few cents," the governor of the jail said, when he was searched after his commitment. Among the telegrams was one from Roger O'Mara, the Pittsburg detective, long identified as an adherent of Thaw.

The alleged conspiracy with which Thaw is charged is briefly that he is a "fugitive from Matteawan penitentiary, where he was held for a life sentence for a criminal charge of which he was convicted."

It is upon the wording of this complaint that Thaw's attorneys hope to carry him successfully through tomorrow's hearing without uncovering their principal defense.

"Why, we have masked batteries that will blow any case of this kind to smithereens," one of his attorneys exclaimed this evening while discussing the matter.

Thaw talked in many ways today that he is beginning to feel acutely the strain of his captivity, and the result was to the contrary. For several hours he paced the floor, sometimes stopping and stamping irritably, at other times quickening his walk around the hospital ward almost to a run.

The slayer of Stanford White looked up when the reporters approached and asked whether the synopsis of Jerome's speech to a jury in New York, January 30, 1908, which he instructed his lawyer to give out last night, had been published in full. When assured that the relevant portions of it had been, he frowned petulantly and said he would say nothing more, because it was obvious that what he wanted to give out was not acceptable.

Thaw Has Guide for Detroit.

Later he confided that when captured he was proceeding to Detroit by the most direct route that could be taken, avoiding New York, and was going to Cressen, Pa., to the Thaw country place. Asked whether he expected liberty, he said:

"Yes, because the present proceedings are improper."

He was then asked:

"Was it not generally understood that you were pledged on your honor not to escape from Matteawan, and that on account of this pledge you were allowed special privileges there?"

Thaw smiled as he answered:

"That was a clever little trick of Dr. Austin Flint's. I never entered into any such understanding. He also said that I was possessed of a delusion that I was in honor bound to stop there."

Asked whether a reconciliation between his wife and himself was possible, he answered evasively.

Able Lawyer Hired by Thaw.

Announcement was made tonight that J. N. Greenshields, K. C., of Montreal, considered one of the most able criminal lawyers in Canada, had been retained to lead the Thaw legal talent. Mr. Greenshields reached here late last night and immediately held a conference with Associate Counsel W. L. Shurtleff, K. C., who has been acting for Thaw since he was arrested and said he did not expect any difficulty in freeing Thaw on the commitment under which he is now held.

THAW "UNDESIRABLE" TO NEW HAMPSHIRE

Rochester, N. H., August 20.—New Hampshire doesn't want Harry K. Thaw within its borders. In the event that he re-enters the state through deportation proceedings in Canada and if legal justification can be found for the act, he will be surrendered promptly to the New York authorities. This declaration was made today by Governor Felker.

Attorney General James P. Tuttle, in support of this attitude, said that the matter of extradition was wholly in the control of the executive.

Governor Felker said he believed that Thaw could be extradited on the charge of conspiracy made by the authorities of the Matteawan insane hospital. The governor made it plain that there would be no legal quibbling if he could prevent it.

Fulton Furnishes 56 Per Cent Of Tax Increase of State

For the first time probably in the history of the state the increase in tax returns of Fulton county is considerably in excess of the net gains from all the balance of the state put together. The state at large has shown a smaller increase this year than at any time since 1908, while the gain made by Fulton county has never been exceeded but once before in its history. That was last year when the gain was $18,630,825, as against $10,823,080 this year.

It is considered a particularly good showing for this county when its gain should be 56 per cent of the entire increase in tax assessments for the state. Last year the percentage was 47, which was the record up to that time.

For the last several years, Fulton county has been showing a pretty steady increase in tax gains while the returns from the whole state have by no means kept the pace set by the bumper years 1910 and 1911.

The following table shows the gains made by the state and the Fulton county for each year from 1908 to 1913 with the percentage of gain which Fulton county furnished of the whole.

Year.	Gain of State.	Fulton County.	P. C.
1913 . . .	*$18,702,063	$10,823,080	56
1912 . . .	29,019,984	13,630,825	47
1911 . . .	45,351,299	10,744,620	23
1910 . . .	41,765,942	5,092,645	12
1909 . . .	19,635,772	6,281,040	32
1908 . . .	5,815,546	2,162,040	37

*There are returns still missing from this year but the result will not be materially changed.

MARRIAGE DOESN'T INTERRUPT MRS. KENAN'S DUTY AS NURSE

Marriage was merely an incident in the day's happenings yesterday for Miss Marsha Boyd in Rames. For eight hours of the day she followed her usual daily course as a visiting nurse for the anti-tuberculosis association. At the end of her day's work she was married to Mr Kirtland Kenan, a well-known young business man of Atlanta.

Such is her love for her work that Miss Humes—that is, the new Mrs Kenan—will report as usual today at the anti-tuberculosis association, and will continue her visiting work. Indefinite "Honeymoon" is not in her vocabulary!

The wedding itself was a surprise to the friends of the young couple. It took place at 5 o'clock Wednesday evening at the First Presbyterian church, Dr. Hugh K. Walker tying the knot. About twenty-five friends who had been informed during the day of the approaching wedding were present. Mrs. Kenan, who comes from a well-known Marietta family, has made hosts of friends through the splendid work she has done in visiting the homes of people in all parts of Atlanta for the anti-tuberculosis association. Mr. Kenan is connected with the Lamar & Rankin drug company, and also has many friends in the city.

EQUAL SUFFRAGE URGED BY COLLEGE SPEAKERS

An enthusiastic audience crowded Carnegie hall Wednesday afternoon at the opening of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, which was features by many stirring addresses, some of them by college men who are strong for the enfranchisement of Georgia women.

Victor Victor, a member of the senior law class at the University of Georgia, served as decided flier in showing the fallacy of extremist arguments on either side of the question. George Walker Maher, of Cleveland, Ohio, a student of architecture at the University of Pennsylvania, who has been actively engaged in suffrage campaigns in the north, told of the value of this work.

"I don't like to call myself a suffrage sympathizer, but a suffrage co-operator," said Hewitt Chambers. "Suffragists don't need sympathy, but co-operation, and the enfranchisement of women is as inevitable as the dawn of tomorrow."

Mrs. Mary L. McLendon, president of the Georgia Women's Suffrage association, welcomed the college orators. Considerable enthusiasm greeted Attorney Leonard J. Grossman's announcement that a great mass meeting in the interest of suffrage will be held in the senate chamber of the capitol on Friday evening, August 29, at 8 o'clock.

Dr. Grace Kirkland, formerly president of the Georgia Women's Suffrage association, announced that a great deal has been accomplished since she had returned to Georgia from California to aid in the campaign for the enfranchisement of Georgia women.

Mrs. Amelia Rutherford, president of the Atlanta Equal Suffrage association, announced a most encouraging increase in the paid membership of the Atlanta branch.

FAMILY JUST ESCAPE FROM BLAZING HOME

Macon, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The family of M. M. Perry, residing at Steel and Chappell streets, had a narrow escape from being cremated early this morning when their home caught on fire.

Mr. Berry was not awakened until the flames began to fall and by this time the other members of the family could be aroused the flames had spread into the rooms they were occupying. It was all they could do to get them out through the flames in order to escape. The roof fell in just after they left the house.

Property in Barnesville.

Barnesville, Ga., August 20.—(Special)—The city assessors for this year, W. M. Howard, E. L. Rogers and Emmett Crawford, have completed their work and shows the totals property returned by whites for the year 1913 to be $1,576,683, and that for the negroes $102,103, making a total of a gain of $73,657 over 1912. The showing is considered a very gratifying one in view of the general dull times which have existed.

Fell to His Death.

Glacier Park, Mont., August 20.—Dr. C. I. Fletcher, of Indianapolis, fell 600 feet to his death in Glacier Park yesterday, while scaling Blackfoot glacier. Dr. Fletcher, with his wife, entered the park August 12.

WALLACE MILLER OUT FOR MAYOR OF MACON

Macon, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Wallace Miller made his formal announcement for mayor of Macon today and gave out his aldermanic ticket of twelve men.

The ticket follows:

First ward, P. L. Hay, H. A. Kennington and Charles Schaffer; Second ward, Will R. Evans, B. Frank Merritt and Will O. Stevens; Third ward, W. G. Lee, H. W. Pittman and Steve M. Wright; Fourth ward, J. B. Riley, Eldon Taylor, and F. Joe Bashop.

In the Miller ticket there is only one change from the one forecasted in The Constitution yesterday, H. A. Kennington taking the place of Harry C. Robert.

Bridges Smith tonight announced his aldermanic ticket, which has been selected by a committee of his friends. The ticket has six of the present members of council on it and six other well known business men. The list follows: First, ward, J. Ross Bowdre, T. O. Chastney and F. M. Jones; second ward, E. E. Adamson, W. J. Garrity and J. W. Ramsey; third ward, R. K. Hines, Lee M. Happ and Jess W. Bates; fourth ward, R. C. Hazelhurst, R. S. Thorpe and J. T. Willis.

LAWS AGAINST LOAFING HELPING THE FARMERS

Thomasville, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—Cotton is beginning to come in right along now and several hundred bales altogether have been received in the different towns throughout the county. The bright sunshine and dry weather of the past few days are causing it to open rapidly and the pickers are getting busy in the fields.

It is said that the stringent laws against loafers and idle negroes adopted in Thomasville and the other towns around here have had the effect of furnishing the farmers with more cotton-pickers than usual and there seems to be no complaint, so far as can be learned, of a scarcity of labor, many of those who were in the habit of standing around the streets going to the cotton fields rather than be arrested for vagrancy.

LOSES USE OF LEGS FROM STRIKING HEAD

Eufaula, Ala., August 20.—(Special.) As the result of falling and striking her head upon a lounge, Mrs. John Tucker is now confined to her bed suffering. A nerve center was affected by the fall. Not long ago Mrs. Tucker fell and broke a hip.

Charges Against McGoodwin.

Washington, August 20.—Preston McGoodwin, of Oklahoma City, whose nomination as minister to Venezuela is held up in the senate, will have opportunity to reply to charges filed with the foreign relations committee. Most of them referred to his alleged republican political activities in Ohio.

MORTUARY.

Robert A. Camp.

Robert A. Camp, aged 56 years, died at 1:30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon at a private sanatarium. The body was removed to Greenberg & Bond's chapel, from where the funeral will be held at 1:30 o'clock Thursday afternoon. Interment will be in West View. The deceased leaves a wife and five children.

Leo Hamby.

Leo Hamby, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Hamby, died at a private sanitarium Wednesday noon. The body was taken to Bleoufield's funeral parlors, from where the funeral services will be held this morning at 10 o'clock. Interment will be at West View.

Mrs. John Carter.

Mrs. John Carter, 37 years of age, died at a private sanitarium Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. She is survived by her husband, Elmo Carter, and four children. The body was taken to Poole's funeral parlors, pending announcement of funeral arrangements.

Henry Yarbrough.

Henry Yarbrough, 77 years of age, died at his residence, 201 Kirkwood avenue, at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. He is survived by his wife, one son, A. M. Yarbrough, and three daughters, Mrs. J. M. Criswell, Mrs. C. D. Kay and Mrs. S. P. Winburn. The body was taken to Poole's funeral parlors, pending announcement of funeral arrangements.

Lewis Gray Wells.

News has been received in Atlanta of the death of Lewis Gray Wells, father of James and Wells, of this city, at Madison, Wis., where Mr. Wells, Sr., was on a visit. James Wells left Atlanta Wednesday for Louisville, Ky., his father's home, where the funeral will be held Friday.

W. J. MATTHEWS HEADS 8TH DISTRICT DOCTORS

Elberton, Ga., August 20.—(Special.)—The medical society of the Eighth congressional district met here today. After a full and excellent program Dr. W. J. Matthews, of Elberton, was elected president; Dr. Proctor, of Athens, vice-president, and Dr. E. M. Coleman, of Athens, secretary. A barbecue was given at Swift's Lithia Springs, followed by an auto ride over the city. The next meeting will be held in Athens.

LEWIS HORNBLOWER TRIES TO KILL SELF

Johnson City, Tenn., August 20.—Lewis Hornblower, aged 30 and married, shot himself through the body at his home here last night, the bullet penetrating the lung and grazing the heart. Despondency is thought to have been the cause of the attempt at suicide. He is a son of W. B. Hornblower, New York lawyer and financier. His recovery is not expected.

Dantzler Issues Challenge.

George L. Dantzler, a member of Captain B. H. Schlomberg's life saving corps, desires to challenge anyone for the championship of the state in high diving.

Anyone wishing to tackle Mr. Dantzler may do so by addressing him at Lakewood, care B. H. Schlomberg.

McDuffie Fair Buildings.

Thomson, Ga., August 20.—(Special.) Work is progressing rapidly on the buildings for McDuffie county's first fair, which will be held October 14 to 18.

5 MOTORCYCLE RACES CRASH AT HIGH SPEED

Ed. Bowen Seriously Injured and Four Others Experience Minor Hurts.

Milwaukee, Wis., August 20.—Five motorcycle racers crashed together here tonight during a 5-mile race at the motordrome and as a result Ed Bowen, of New York city, is in the hospital with a broken shoulder and serious internal injuries, and four other riders are suffering from severe cuts, bruises and minor internal injuries.

The most seriously injured, also in hospitals, are: James Cox, Dallas, Texas; Olen Stokes, Los Angeles; Bert Bruggerman, Denver, and Lawrence Fleckenstein, also of Denver.

The racers were bunched and going at a terrific speed when Bowen, skidding and forced the other riders near the top of the track. Bowen went up over the safety rail and his machine slid down the track, spilling the other four.

Five thousand persons in the crowd jumped from their seats when Bowen went over the safety rail. A panic ensued for a time, but no one was injured.

SULZER BADLY SCARED BY THREE SIGHT-SEERS

Albany, N. Y., August 20.—As Governor Sulzer approached the capitol steps today three stalwart young men turned around to stare at him.

"Are you here to assault me?" the governor asked.

"Why the world should we want to assault you?" replied one of the young men in astonishment. "We simply are looking around—just sight-seers."

The executive, his fears quieted, shook hands nervously with the trio and walked quickly up the steps. Sulzer is said to have had several warnings of a projected plan to have him attacked by gangsters or kidnapped.

EX-PREMIER OLLIVIER SUMMONED BY DEATH

Annecy, France, August 20.—Emile Ollivier, premier of France under Napoleon III., died here today.

Born at Marseilles, July 2, 1825, he came into international prominence when he was chosen by the emperor as arbiter of the differences which arose relative to the candidacy of Leon, and it was upon his report that the final decision was founded.

In 1870 Mr. Ollivier was invited by the president to form a ministry. The declaration of war against Germany and its disastrous results led to the overthrow of the Ollivier government on August 9, 1871, seven months after its formation.

Should Grow Soy Beans.

That Georgia is especially adapted to the cultivation of the soy bean, the oil of which is an excellent substitute for linseed oil, is the opinion of L. P. Nemsek, of the educational bureau of the Planters' Manufacturers' association of the United States, who visited Atlanta yesterday. Mr. Nemsek is making a tour of the agricultural states throughout America, in order to show the farmers the advantage of growing the soy bean.

Mr. and Mrs. D. F. McClatchey, of Marietta, announce the birth of a son. Mr. McClatchey is the popular reading clerk of the house of representatives.

Wanted—An Offer on 290 Myrtle Street

When a bargain in real estate is put on the market there are always certain conditions that are brought to bear upon the present owner, making it essential that a disposal be made of the property at once. If these conditions were not of a pressing nature the property would never be offered at anything like the present price.

The persons who always come out ahead on these trades are the ones who size up these conditions for what they are worth and take advantage of them at once.

On one of Atlanta's prettiest streets—Myrtle street—we offer a 10-room home on a corner lot, 60x190 feet, faces east and is elevated. This home is absolutely up to date in all respects.

The owner is in such condition that a disposal must be made of this property. Make us an offer and we will submit it, regardless of what it is.
